WALSH PACES NEW BLAST AT WAR AID BILL

Massachusetts Senator Calls It Equivalent of Full War Declaration.

TWO CONTRADICT HIM

Senate Leaders Now Striving For Vote on Disputed Bill By Saturday.

BULLETIN

..WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky said today that he was considering asking opponents of the British aid bill to agree to a time limit on debate.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senator Walsh (D-Mass) keynoted a lengthy attack on the lease-lend program today with the announcement: "I look upon this bill as equivalent to a declaration of war."

"Once in war," he asserted, "there can be no turning back. The congress will have no choice, the people will have no choice. Such a war will not be America's war. It will be a world war in which we will join in world ruin."

This war view was contradicted by two supporters of the bill. Senators Smathers (D-NJ) and Tunnell (D-Del.)

Smathers said he was tired of "this parrot-like prattle" that war would follow. The opposition, he remarked, had used that argument a year ago when the arms embargo was lifted, and again when the selective service act was being discussed.

Tunnell declared, "I am one of those who believe that this bill will not cause war."

Should war come, however, "it will be easier," he predicted, "for America to defeat a weakened Germany." The reich, he said, would be weakened by the strong British defense which te bill would make possible.

Thus, with the accent on war danger or lack of it, the senate reached its third week of British aid debate, convening an hour earlier in an effort to accelerate proceedings.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the foreign relations committee said that he would "do everything in my power to bring about a vote by Saturday."

SETS JURY DATE

Lutz To Submit 30 Cases To March Grand Jurors.

County Prosecutor Harold Lutz said today he would call the new January term grand jury into session for the first time during the week of March 17, and probably on Tuesday, March 18.

There will be more than 30 cases on the docket, he said, requiring at least two days to complete the session. It will be the first grand jury session in three and a half months.

Most of the cases will involve defendants accused of breaking and entering, robbery, forgery, and non-support. There are no murder or manslaughter cases on the docket so far.

Scores of witnesses will be called to testify before the jury, but the prosecutor had not completed the list today.

FINDS DYNAMITE

Woman Discovers Explosive As She Feeds Chickens.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — While feeding chickens in the backyard of her home, Mrs. Juliana Fasse found 14 sticks of dynamite strewn on an ashpile next to her chicken coop.

She told police that she lives next door to the custodian of a Cleveland school who was arraigned in court last Monday on a charge of placing a stick of dynamite in the school radio tower.

JOE GORDON SIGNS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(UP)—Joe Gordon, New York Yankees' holdout second baseman, signed his 1941 contract today, leaving the Yanks with only Outfielder Joe DiMaggio a holdout.

'Katsy' Has a Bad Night Aloft On Swaying Telephone Wires

Maybe March Lion Chased Him Up There But All's Well Now.

By MARIANNE McCABE

FOR all anyone knows it was the roaring March lion that chased "Katsy" up a telephone pole last night and caused him to spend the dark hours swaying perilously on a pair of wires near the home of his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hedeen, 476 Chevy Chase. Katsy, of course, couldn't tell how he happened to get up there. He's only a tomcat But he did plenty of complaining.

Neighbors heard him meowing from his perch last night, but because of the darkness they couldn't discover exactly where he was. Nor, for that matter, could they tell that it was Katsy.

He was still crying this morning when the neighbors awakened and discovered his predicament and identity.

They called to him; but Katsy just kept on swaying and crying. Then Mrs. Hedeen was notified.

She said simply, "Kitty, kitty," and Katsy came down promptly.

He was soaking wet and scared—or frozen—almost stiff but at least he wasn't in the doghouse. He got a breakfast of chicken liver, milk and bread, and then the Heedens' young daughter, Sara Ann, wrapped him in warm blankets so he wouldn't catch cold.

Besides, the family dog, Pal, an English pointer, was too busy sleeping in his doghouse to move over, even if anyone had wanted to put Katsy in there.

Katsy's a pretty high-climbing cat anyhow. Not more than two weeks ago, he was missing from home for three days, and it took the city service department to fetch him down from a tall tree, where he was held fast, with his tail frozen to a branch!

Oh yes, and when Pal became a member of the Hedeen household, Katsy was so disgusted that he climbed up another tree and pouted for two days.

Now, however, he and Pal eat from the same dish, although Katsy has priority rights. If things don't go right, he chases Pal at a merry clip around the neighborhood.

Katsy's snug again with Sara Ann Heeden.

PARKING METER REVENUE DROPS

Collections Total $274 Less In February, But More Tickets Go Out.

Two holidays and a short month cut into parking meter collections during February, with revenue from the 413 machines totaling $3,166, the lowest amount during the three months they have been in operation. But more parking meter violations were reported.

A report submitted to city officials today from the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, auditing agent, showed that collections decreased $274 below the January revenues and dropped $660 from the December total, the first full month the machines were in operation.

It was pointed out however, that February is considered a poor business month and that the collections are expected to show an increase in March.

Since the meters were in-

SCHOOLS CLOSED

Measles Outbreak Forces Shutdown at Clyde.

FREMONT — (INS) — The first three grades in public schools at nearby Clyde failed to hold classes today as the school board ordered them closed because of a measles epidemic.

With the number of measles cases mounting rapidly it was estimated there were 500 in Sandusky county.

It's Like Spring Today, But It Won't Be for Long

Rain Tonight to Turn to Snow, And Tuesday's to Be 'Much Colder,' Forecast Declares.

Mansfielders basked in a spring pre-view today, but the weatherman took most of the pleasure out of it by forecasting another cold wave for tonight or Tuesday.

With most of the snow and ice washed away by a light rain this morning, the mercury moved up to 49 degrees at noon, the highest mark in more than three weeks.

Dispelling any idea that spring may be here ahead of schedule, the weatherman predicted that rain will change to snow tonight as a cold blast sweeps into Ohio from the Canadian northwest to drop the mercury far below freezing again.

Even in the extreme northern part of the state where highways have had snow and ice on them for several weeks, the state highway department said roads are clear as a result of the thaw.

Snow, rain and dust storms plagued the western states today as a storm area moved eastword across virtually the entire nation. A foot of snow stalled trains in Colorado, while dust clouds darkened the skies over New Mexico, Kansas and Texas, and heavy rain continued in California.

OK'S WPA FUNDS

President Approves Allocation of 375 Millions.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt signed a bill today appropriating $375,000,000 for the work projects administration for the remainder of the 1941 fiscal year.

The bill also carries $6,670,000 for temporary defense housing, $269,000 for the naval training station at Newport, R. I., and $253,775 for the station at Great Lakes, Ill.

Meanwhile, a persisting head cold caused Mr. Roosevelt to cancel all appointments today and remain in his White House study. Rear Admiral Ross T. MacIntire, White House physician, said the president was running no temperature.

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(INS)—Bimelech, Col. E. R. Bradley's 4-year-old hopeful that failed to finish in the money in the $50,000 Widener classic at Hialeah Saturday, has been retired, it was announced today at the Bradley farms.

Bimelech will reach Lexington probably next Friday and will eventually enter stud, it was announced by Olin Gentry, manager of Bradley's Idle Hour Farm.

STRIKE AT CAMP

4,000 Union Men, Working On Army Project, Walk Out.

WILMINGTON, N. C. —(UP)— Nearly 4,000 workers, members of the Wilmington Building Trades Council (AFL), struck today at Camp Davis, the army's $13,000,000 anti-aircraft firing range under construction on the North Carolina coast.

'L' CRASH KILLS ONE

CHICAGO (UP)—One person was reported killed and at least seven injured today in a collision of two elevated trains while rain and fog blacked out the city.

City Officials Will Discuss One-Man Police Cruiser Plan

Feasibility of substituting one-man police cruisers for the present system of two-officer patrols was to be discussed today by city officials.

Mayor William J. Locke said he would confer this afternoon with Service-Safety Director C. M. Cration and Police Chief Meade K. Bates on the advisability of the single-man cruiser idea.

His action in discussing the subject, he said, was prompted by "certain members of city council" who have complained of lack of enforcement of traffic regulations by the police department.

Locke said the legislators had pointed out that at least two more officers would be available for beat duty in the business district if the one-man cruiser system was adopted.

It was pointed out, the mayor asserted, that numerous cities, some larger than Mansfield, were using the single-man cruiser system with success.

The "certain members" of council that the mayor referred to, it was learned, had surveyed the business district during the past week and had complained that the parking meter ordinance was not being properly enforced.

On this basis, it was understood, council at its March meeting tomorrow night is likely to turn down legislation authorizing the

BULLETIN

ISTANBUL —(AP)— Unofficial reports, not confirmed by the Associated Press, said today that "a high German official" would arrive at Ankara tomorrow to confer with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

(By United Press)

ANKARA — Semi-official Turkish quarters said today that Germany's entry into Bulgaria had nullified the Turkish-Bulgarian declaration of non-aggression.

This statement was made as it was revealed officially that Turkey had called three new classes of troops to the colors.

Semi-official Turkish sources said that the German entry into Bulgaria has deprived Bulgaria of her independence and in view of the change in Bulgaria's status the declaration of non-aggression no longer can be held binding.

It was added that Turkey cannot be expected to act until or unless German troops attack Greece or Turkey or both.

It was said that three classes of troops had been demobilized in connection with calling up of new levies.

(According to the authoritative stateman's year book there are about 175,000 men in an annual class in Turkey, of whom about half are passed for service. That would mean a total of more than 250,000 men in three classes, but there was no indication in the Ankara dispatch of the actual number involved.)

At the same time the government restricted the war time

RUNS BLOCKADE

German Freighter Arrives In Rio With Planes.

RIO DE JANERIO—(INS)—Loaded with planes and chemicals, the North German Lloyd freighter Lech arrived in Rio De Janerio unexpectedly today from Bordeaux in German-occupied France.

Capt. Frederick Bunkmann refused all details as to the vessel's course, commenting only that the passage was "very good" and that he met no hindrances from the British blockade.

Presumably, the cargo aboard the 3,290-ton freighter represented shipments by German commercial firms to customers in South America. Notice of the Lech's arrival was believed to mark the first such publicly known crossing through the British blockade since the war began.

DECISION DAY

Bridges, Newspaper Cases Likely To Be Decided.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The supreme court may rule today on contempt of court convictions both of Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader, and the Los Angeles Times as a result of the publication of comment on court cases prior to a final settlement.

These cases, argued last October, were among a total of 27 on which decisions were possible as the tribunal reassembled after a two-week recess.

HOME RAZED

Neighbors Save Doctor's Library From Flames.

CHAGRIN FALLS —(INS)— The 14-room home of Dr. George W. Ryall, well-known Cleveland physician, was leveled to the ground today, following a $20,00 fire which swept the dwelling while Dr. Ryall and his family were at a theater.

Neighbors and passing motorists saved Dr. Ryall's library and most of the furniture in the home.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

ATHENS — (AP) — The Greek ministry of home security declared today that rescue work had to be suspended at Larisa during an hour-long Italian air raid yesterday on that earthquake stricken town.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—(AP)—Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Alksander Cincar-Markovic conferred at length with Regent Prince Paul today after the premier had returned suddenly by airplane from his home province. Authoritative quarters said the talks concerned the possibility of Yugoslav membership in the Axis three-power pact.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The state department advised the treasury today to "freeze" Bulgarian funds in the United States as a result of the entrance of German troops in that country.

BERLIN—(AP)—The German high command asserted today that three vessels totaling 21,000 tons had been sunk by Nazi submarines and planes and that two other vessels were damaged "badly," all presumably yesterday.

ROME — (AP) — Italian torpedo boats sank two "enemy submarines" in the Mediterranean, the Italian high command reported today, and added that an Italian submarine sank three steamers totalling 20,000 tons in the Atlantic.

WITH BRITISH FORCES, East Africa—(AP)—A British communique reported today the occupation of Villaggio Duca Degli Abruzzi, described as an important agricultural center 80 miles north of Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland.

URGES CURB ON DEFENSE TIE-UPS

Assistant War Secretary Seeks To Re-establish Mediation Plan of World War.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Undersecretary of war Robert P. Patterson today recommended re-establishment of the World war labor mediation system so that the United States will have the benefit of "every man hour of labor" it can throw behind the defense program.

Strikes caused a loss of 120,000 man-days of defense labor in the last week of February, and this loss is causing defense officials as much concern as "a shortage of basic materials," Patterson told the house judiciary committee.

Before compulsory regulatory legislation is imposed, Patterson said, the World war labor mediation system should be given a fair trial.

"The United States needs every man hour of labor it can put forth for defense production," Patterson said. "There must be no strikes and no stoppages."

Patterson's proposal was similar to that offered the committee last week by William S. Knudsen, defense production chief. Knudsen suggested that a 40-day "cooling off" period be required, to give opportunity to settle defense labor disputes before strikes are effective.

CHINA TRIP OFF

Willkie Shelves Visit To Orient For Time Being.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Wendell L. Willkie, it was learned today, has shelved temporarily his idea of a "look-see" trip to China.

Willkie, who spent several days last week in his home-state, Indiana, has returned to New York to make plans for private law practice.

Willkie made a flying tour to Britain's recently and, testified later in behalf of the administration's aid-to-Britain bill.

Selective Service Boards Name 35 To Leave Friday

Thirty-five men to fill Richland county's quota in the sixth draft call had been chosen today by the county's three selective boards. The group will leave at 8 a. m. Friday for the Ft. Hayes induction station, Columbus.

Board clerks said 40 more prospective selectees will be called to the Mansfield Armory Wednesday morning for physical examinations.

The examination call was issued to Board 1 men with order numbers up to 978, Board 2 men to number 707, and Board 3 registrants to number 800.

Todd Patton, clerk of Board 1, said the advisory board in the No. 1 district will meet from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday nights, beginning tomorrow night, at board headquarters at 603 Farmers bank building to help registrants fill out their questionnaires. Members of the advisory

FLIER BETTER

Rickenbacker 'Slightly Improved at Atlanta Hospital.

ATLANTA—(AP)—Lying in an oxygen tent to facilitate breathing, Eddie Rickenbacker, injured in the crash of an Eastern Air Lines sleeper plane near here Thursday, was reported "slightly improved" today by hospital attendants.

A physician said Rickenbacker "slept more last night than any time since entering the hospital.

"His general condition is somewhat better but he is still seriously sick.

The president of the EAL and famed World war pilot was placed in the tent yesterday and also given a blood transfusion as a "matter of feeding after his condition became worse.

GERMAN AGENT JAILED

WASHINGTON—(UP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Friedrich Ernst Auhagen on charges of failure to register with the state department as an agent of the German government.

Disastrous Weekend Traffic Brings Arrests, 3 Injuries

Climaxing a disastrous week-end in which traffic accidents claimed two lives, three other persons were injured, one seriously, in the Richland county area as Ohio chalked up the greatest three-day toll of the new year with 23 persons killed on the state's highways.

The accidents occurred in the face of an extensive drive by state highway patrolmen to curb speeding and reckless driving which brought the arrest of five drivers in the Mansfield area in the past two days.

A 25-year-old Akron truck driver in municipal court today admitted operating his 16-ton vehicle on U. S. routet 42 at a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Pleading guilty to a charge of speeding, Paul M. Tenny was fined $25 and costs. Officers charged that the heavy tractor-trailer outfit was being driven at 40 miles above the statutory limit for such vehicles.

Thomas G. Sawhart, 30, Mansfield, R. D. 4, pleading guilty to a charge of crashing a stop sign when driving onto U. S. route 42 from Aker road in Lincoln Heights this morning, was fined $5 and costs and Ralph Smith, Columbus, was fined $35 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an overweighted vehicle on the state highways.

Two others, one arrested for

LOOKING TO YUGOSLAVIA

Germans Expect Largest of All Balkan Nations To Sign With Axis Soon.

(By Associated Press)

Adolf Hitler's mechanized legions rolled across Bulgaria toward the Greek and Turkish frontiers today, threatening to create new front in the European war.

As the fateful march to the south and southeast proceeded, Turkey mined the strategic Dardanelles—waterway between the Black sea and the Mediterranean—and barred them to all ships without a special permit.

Turkish warships were reported steaming out of Istanbul, across the Sea of Marmora, en route to the Dardanelles.

In Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, British Minister George W. Rendel informed King Boris III that Britain would break off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria, probably tomorrow. A state of war, he said, "undoubtedly" would follow.

Authoritative quarters in Ankara disclosed that Turkey has mined the Dardanelles and taken "full defense precautions."

Turkish officials withheld comment on the question of mobilization, but the government-controlled Turkish press chorused a prediction that Bulgaria would soon become a battlefield.

A newspaper closely connected with the Turkish foreign office said Bulgaria's army would be used to counter Turkish troops and "hide the action of the German army which will be conducted against Greece."

Unconfirmed advices from the Yugoslav frontier said British warplanes had already bombed

Bank Clearings For February Top '40 By Big Margin

Maintaining the rapid pace set in December, Mansfield bank clearings for February amounted to $8,120,379, a gain of $765,344 over the same month last year, Dale Kaylor, secretary of the Clearing House association, said today.

Clearings last month reflected the best February for Mansfield business since 1937. Clearings were slightly under figures for January, but the decrease was due partly to the shorter month, Kaylor said.

The February clearings brought the total for the first two months of this year to $16,733,016 as compared to $15,273,941 for the corresponding months of 1940, an increase of approximately $1,460,000.

KELLEY PLANT AT NEW SITE

Grave Vault Company Takes Over Plow Works After Disastrous Fire.

BUCYRUS—The Kelley Manufacturing company, whose Hopley avenue plant was destroyed by fire on Feb 3, will continue operations in Bucyrus, it has been announced definitely by Miss Veronica Kelley, head of the company.

Headquarters have been established in the old Shunk Plow company works on Nelson way and production of grave vaults has been resumed.

Miss Kelley, who, since the fire, has been paying all of the plant's 18 workers full salary in spite of unemployment, said that full production will be underway in a short time.

The building now occupied and being put into condition for production was leased from John Q. Shunk.

CHECK FIRE DAMAGE

BUCYRUS — Officials of the Bucyrus Y. M. C. A today were checking over the ruins of Friday night's five-hour fire that completely wrecked the front part of the Y. building.

This is the third time that "Y" directors have been faced with the problem of rebuilding the structure. It burned 20 years ago and again 14 years ago.

In the meantime officers of the Y's Men's club were making arrangements to hold tonight's regular club meeting at some other location, probably the Elks club.

A check of the water-soaked building disclosed that none of the rooms which were occupied by a dozen lodgers could be used until rebuilt. The gymnasium and swimming pool were undamaged.

Two New Wards Are Opened At Bucyrus Hospital

BUCYRUS—By virtue of individual donations, two new wards, which have been added to City hospital, are ready for occupancy and have been opened to patients.

The wards, each accommodating six beds, were built as an addition to the rear part of the first floor of the hospital. Work was begun some time ago under a $6,000 bond issue approved by council and the voters.

One of the wards is being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Nussbaum. The other ward is being equipped by the American Legion, J. C. Hull and Harold Smith.

The hospital is also undergoing general redecorating as vacant rooms will permit.

GROOM'S UNCLE OFFICIATES AT WEDDING CEREMONY IN ASHLAND

ASHLAND—At the Methodist church Saturday afternoon Miss Margaret Thornburg and John Norman Leininger were united in marriage as the bridegroom's uncle, Rev. David Schultz of the First Zion Episcopal Lutheran church of Pittsburgh, read the double ring ceremony.

On organ recital by Miss Mabel Zehner preceded the ritual.

Miss Mary Thornburg, sister of the bride was maid of honor. Bride's maids were Misses Catherine Zody, Rosemary Imhoff of Mansfield, Charlene Phillips of Nova and Marjorie Otter. Robert Mason of Elyria was best man and the ushers were Donald Sower, Burton Zimmerman of Homerville, Robert Thornburg, and Donald Michael of Rowsburg.

Palms, flowers and two seven-branched candelabra were arranged at the altar. The bride was attired in white lace over white satin styled with a basque waist.

The maid of honor wore powder pink, floor length, tulle skirt and lace bodice. The bridesmaids gowns were of powder blue, in the same design.

The bride's mother wore powder blue print and the bridegroom's mother wore navy and white accessories.

Gold link bracelets were gifts to the bride's maids from the bride, and the ushers received ties and billfolds from the bridegroom.

A three piece glen plaid suit with saddle tan accessories were worn by Mrs. Leininger for her going away ensemble.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Thornburg at Orchard Heights near Ashland. She was Queen of the Cen Quar celebration held here last summer. A graduate of Ashland high school she is a senior at Ashland college and will graduate in June.

The bridegroom is the son of of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Leininger of near Rowsburg. He graduated from Ashland high school and attended Ohio State university. While there he became a member of the Kappa Delta Chapter of Phalanx. He is employed as Dairy Herd Improvement association supervisor in Lorain county.

THEATERS

Madison.

Patrons of the Madison can run away to a world all new to them when the red wheels start rolling in "Chad Hanna" and the humor and romance of a traveling tent show is unfolded. With Henry Fonda cast as the country boy, completely dazzled by the gorgeous bareback rider, Dorothy Lamour, and almost breaking the heart of his girl, in the country, Linda Darnell. The second half of the bill offers suave and handsome Cesar Romero in "Tall, Dark and Handsome," in which, for the first time he wins the girl—in this picture, Virginia Gilmore. It's a tuneful story of the underworld taken for a laugh "ride."

* * *

Ohio.

"Strawberry Blond" is a lively comedy packed with humor and romance of a boy who loses the girl he loves to a successful business man and marries another girl in his attempt to forget the first. James Cagney, in the role of a timid dentist, will please his amazed audience Rita Hayworth takes the role of the strawberry blond while Olivia de Havilland is cast as the kind of a girl your mother probably was.

* * *

Ritz.

For entertainment that leaves a catch in your throat and a laugh in your heart "Little Nellie Kelly," presenting Judy Garland in her first solo starring role, fills the bill at the Ritz theater. The filmization of George M. Cohan's smash Broadway hit is a merry medley of songs and comedy, scrappy Irish folk in their feuds and friendships, the romance of an Irish colleen on the sidewalks of New York, blended with a few moments of poignant heart interest. Jon Hall and Lynn Bari complete the schedule with their performance in "Kit Carson."

* * *

Park.

Eight brands of comedy that will please the palates of the most discriminating sense of humor are jelled together in a merry-go-round of fun in "Hit Parade of 1941" which is currently playing at the Park theater. Frances Langford and Kenny Baker are in the stellar roles with such laughmakers as Hugh Herbert, Patsy Kelly, Sterling Hollowell, Mary Boland and Borrah Minevitch and his gang. "Old Swimmin' Hole," also on the bill of movie fare, is a delightful story of life in a country town. Marcia Jones and Jackie Moran share starring honors.

* * *

Majestic.

"New Moon" with its romantic and picturesque background and boasting of one of the most varied and beautiful musical scores ever offered in a Jeannette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy production, will be a delight to those who have had their fill of realism in movies lately. The story concerns itself with adventures on the high seas in 1780 and from there, to a tropic island where a strange assortment of individuals, led by Nelson Eddy, set up their own republic from the remnants of a ship and cargo wrecked in a storm. Playing at the Majestic today, with the operetta, is "Our Town," starring William Holden and Martha Scott.

Special Bargain Matinees

Miss Babs Flannery, one of the many beautiful girls appearing in Studio Scandals, unusual 35 people road show playing the Madison Theater for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, March 5th and 6th. A special bargain price will prevail each matinee until 2 p. m. This out-of-the-ordinary show features glamorous beauties, and sensational artists returned from a triumphant 20,000-mile European tour.

One of the many unusual acts in the show is the famous Youman Brothers, the act that proved such a sensation at the Roxy in New York that they were requested to play for the President. These three boys, by the use of various musical instruments, perfectly imitate the music of Artie Shaw, Benny Goodman, Kay Kyser, and all the others. When they play, they sound exactly like the bands themselves. If you want the unusual thrill of hearing all your name bands in one night, don't miss the Youman Brothers, the only act of its kind in the world. Music and dance lovers will thrill at their skill.

The Lucky Girls, beautiful dancing stars of Studio Scandals, have time and again been acclaimed the most talented and beautiful girls on tour. The famous Billy Rose is said to have praised the girls as being the most beautiful and accomplished he had ever seen. The New York Times wrote, "Miss Evelyn Willard, appearing with the Lucky Girls, has one of the world's most perfect figures."

Concerning the show's comedy team, Edison and Louise, the London Times wrote, "The funniest act ever seen here." The famous Ted Lewis thought so much of their talent that he personally presented them in America's leading theaters.

The entire huge cast has a great variety of such top-notch entertainment. The show will be presented here exactly as at the Roxy in New York.

Studio Scandals plays the Madison Theater for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, March 5th and 6th.

MISS TREISCH BRIDE OF JOHN A. GOSLING

Saturday Afternoon Ceremony Performed At South Main Street Evangelical Church By Rev. C. L. Kern.

IN A quiet ceremony before the altar of the South Main Street Evangelical church, Miss Lillian Willeen Treisch became the bride of John Armand Gosling at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Rev. C. L. Kern, pastor of the church, performed the service.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Argale Treisch, 69 Greenwood avenue, was attired in a beige crepe afternoon dress with black accessories for her wedding. Gardenias formed her shoulder corsage.

Miss Dortha Shaffer was the bride's only attendant, and she wore a blue suit with matching accessories and gardenia corsage. Maurice Stearns of Bowling Green served as Mr. Gosling's best man.

Following an informal reception for relatives and a few close friends at the Treisch home, the couple left for a southern wedding trip. After March 5, Mr. and Mrs. Gosling will reside at 611 Andrews avenue, N.E. in Massillon.

The former Miss Treisch is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school. She was the City Hall telephone operator before her marriage and a member of Gamma chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority. Mr. Gosling, who was graduated from high school in Springfield, is a State Highway patrolman stationed in Massillon.

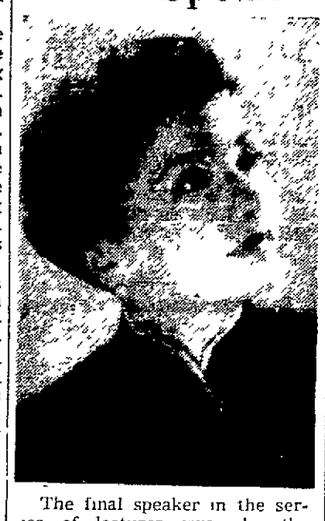
ON PROGRAM.

Saturday evening Thurza Hazeltine, vocalist, accompanied by Margaret B. Hall, appeared on the program of the St. David's day banquet of the Welsh-American society of Canton for British War relief. Mrs. Hazeltine sang two groups of numbers during the program which was held at the Courtland hotel. Dr. John R. Williams, Wooster, was the guest speaker.

Will Speak



The final speaker in the series of lectures given by the Mansfield Federation of Women will be Countess Waldeck, above, who will appear at the Ohio theater Thursday at 11 a. m. Following the program on "Women In the Modern World" luncheon will be served at the Women's Club. Reservations will be accepted until Wednesday evening.

Last Summer's Bride Feted At Three Events

MRS. LESLIE K. WAGNER was entertained with two post-nuptial showers Saturday. Formerly Miss Mary Kathryn Winans of Shelby, her marriage to Atty. Wagner was solemnized on June 23 and announced recently.

Saturday morning, Mrs. Henry Betts, Miss Opal Gates and Miss Janet Koch feted the bride with a breakafst party at the Betts home in Shelby, and the guests present gave her a shower of miscellaneous gifts. That evening Mrs. V. E. Reinhart and her daughter, Mrs. Paul N. Smith, entertained at the latter's home on the Springmill road.

The guests hemmed towels during the evening, and prizes in several contests were won by Miss Virginia Wagner and Mrs. Otis Seidel, who presented them to the honoree. Refreshments were served at a long table, decorated with pastel appointments and miniature lamps. Mrs. Wagner received a kitchen shower and an electrical gift from the hostesses.

Another party for Mrs. Wagner was given last Thursday evening in Shelby with Mrs. Walter Brockwell, Miss Marjorie Rollins and Mrs. Gordon Stentz as hostesses. The affair was a dessert-bridge at the Brockwell home, and prizes in the diversion were won by Miss Gates and Mrs Gene Love. The honoree received a shower of miscellaneous gifts from those in attendance.

ENTERTAIN.

Mr. and Mrs Thomas Banks, Little Washington, entertained Mr and Mrs Barney Banks, Mansfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Thomas, Chicago, at a dinner party yesterday evening.

* * *

HONORED.

N. H. Banks, near Little Washington, was honored last night by 26 friends and relatives with a party in honor of his 67th birthday. The dining room table was decorated with a cake for the dinner. Games were played, and Mr. Banks' grandchildren presented a short program.

Informally Speaking...

March 3, 1941.

Lucy, dear:

Marianne

WELL, March is here already, and it looks pretty much as though it's come in like a lamb, so I guess we'll have to hope the old adage doesn't hold true this year, and that it will go out like a lamb too. But then things like that don't bother some lucky folk who are vacationing in the sunshine climes. . . . Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Olson are wintering in Phoenix, Ariz, you know, and she recently entertained a group of friends at luncheon. . . . The guests included visitors from widely separated parts of the United States, including Honolulu, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Chicago, Detroit, New York and Cleveland. . . . Mrs Mary King Carter and Mrs. Ernest Stevens of this city were among those in attendance.

* * * * *

This was an exciting week-end for Kathleen Ruth Preston, as she came up from Chevy Chase college to attend a spring formal dance at Denison university in Granville Friday night, and then she came to Mansfield to spend the remainder of the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Preston. . . . A freshman student at Chevy Chase in Washington, D. C., Kathleen recently was named to the honor roll, and not so long ago, she accompanied the school glee club in a joint recital with the Georgetown university glee club.

* * * * *

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cates and their son, Richard, have returned home from a two-weeks vacation in Miami, Fla. . . . They made the trip by automobile and stopped off in many places of interest enroute down and back. . . . Another returning vacationer is Mrs. G. C. Endly. . . . After spending several weeks in Florida, she went to New York City to visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Endly, and their small daughter.

* * * * *

AND speaking of honors at school (as we were a few paragraphs back), Lucille Garber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Garber of Ashland, has received one of the highest honors awarded at Stephens college. . . . She was named as pledge to Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honor society, whose standards are similar to those set by Phi Beta Kappa—an honor given only to the top two per cent of the student body. . . . David W. Hagelbarger, son of Rev. and Mrs. B F Hagelbarger, has received the highest scholastic honor at Hiram college by again being elected to the Alpha society. A junior at the college, he now is president of that organization and has an assistantship in Physics.

* * * * *

THELMA STILL, who's a senior at Wheaton college in Wheaton, Ill., this week received scholastic honors at an assembly held in the college chapel. . . . She stood high in her class of 177 and is majoring in English. . . . She also is a member of Chi Sigma Theta, honorary educational society, the Philalethean Literary society and a Gospel team. . . . Her mother is Mrs. L. S. Still, 412 Woodland avenue. . . . And news from Hiram college reveals that Eleanor Wilcox has been elected secretary of the senior class there. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilcox, Eleanor will receive her A. B. degree in the spring.

* * * * *

A group of Mansfielders had a pretty exciting time down South recently, Lucy, for not only did they attend the Mardi Gras parade in New Orleans, La., on Tuesday afternoon, but they also went to the Rex ball that night. . . . Strictly an invitational affair, those from this city who were asked to attend included Major and Mrs. Coleman Todd, Capt. and Mrs. Robert Nichols, Capt. and Mrs. W. D. Uhlich and Capt. and Mrs. Robert Springer. . . . These officers are stationed at Camp Shelby this year, while their wives reside in Gulfport, Miss., and Mrs. Springer writes that the Mardi Gras parades were very beautiful and exciting, with gorgeous decorations and costumes everywhere.

* * * * *

IT LOOKS as though that's all the news for today, Lucy, so let me hear from you soon, and I'll write again next week.

Lovingly,

Marianne

Sets Date

Personals

Mr and Mrs Clyde Stahl and son, Charles, Galion, spent Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehnhart, 520 Grant street.

* * *

Mr and Mrs Charles Linton, 359 West Fifth street, and Miss LaDonna Lehnhart, 520 Grant street, were the guests of Mr. Linton's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Whitten and family, Johnstown, yesterday.

PLAN PROGRAM.

It was announced today that "The Village Skule" will be conducted for members of the Mansfield Nature club Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the pavilion at North Lake park. Miss Edith Stuckey, chairman, Miss Marie Hoover, Miss Virginia Howard, Miss Isabel Mosey and Miss Ruth Motz will be the "skule marms," and the member "students" have been requested to furnish nature stories, poems and songs for the meeting.

AFTERNOON SERVICE PERFORMED SUNDAY

Miss Lucille Durbin Becomes Bride of Alfred J. Bollerer Before Altar of First Christian Church.

WEARING a dusty pink dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias and sweetheart roses, Miss Lucille Durbin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Durbin, 610 South Main street, became the bride of Alfred J. Bollerer, 34½ West Fourth street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bollerer, Galion. The ceremony was read by Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger at the altar of the First Christian church yesterday at 1:45 p. m.

The bride was given in marriage by her father before the altar which was decorated with palms, ferns, beauty vases of gladioli and two seven-branch candelabra. Mrs. H. H. Clingan, organist, played "Liebestraum," "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "Ave Maria" in addition to the wedding marches.

Attending Miss Durbin was her sister, Miss Ruth, who wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Carl Bollerer, Galion, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Cornel Zeig, Galion and Marlin Durbin were the ushers.

Both the bride's and the bridegroom's mothers were attired in black costumes, and wore corsages of gardenias.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. Later Mr. and Mrs. Bollerer left for a short wedding trip to Cleveland. They will be at home this week at 46½ West Second street.

The bride is a graduate of the Mansfield Senior high school, while her husband was graduated from the Galion high school. Both are employes of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company.

Two Church Classes Hold Joint Session Yesterday

YESTERDAY 150 members and guests of the Centenary and B. W. F. classes of the Central Methodist church met in the parlors for a joint session and program. Judge C. H. Huston of the Richland county common pleas court was the guest speaker. He talked on "The Church, Family, and Human Conduct."

Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Ewing were in charge of the program, and H. J. Dotson served as master of ceremonies. An instrumental quartette including Mrs E. D. Gibson, Mrs. Gail Barnes, Miss Mildred Hart and Richard Beilstein, accompanied by Mrs. Louis Rahn played "Arietta" by Haydn, "Caprice Scherzondo" by Dont and "A la Gavotte" by Xarganoff.

Donald Kirkpatrick, baritone, then sang "Because" and "My Message" by D'Hardelot. The assembled group sang a hymn in conclusion. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hemperly, Mr. and Mrs. Camp Smeltzer, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fichter, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ogborn, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Arlin, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B Boyce, Mr. and Mrs Gilmore Hiett and Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Weir.

Slim Budget No Excuse for Dull Wardrobe

By SUSAN BARDEN
(Inter. Ill. News Writer)

THIS SPRING a slim budget is no excuse for a dull, uninteresting wardrobe. Piece goods departments are stocked with smart new dress fabrics that cost as little as 39 cents a yard, and for just a few cents you can find a becoming pattern that's up to the minute in style.

Nowadays everyone has taken up sewing, so you'll be right in the swim if you get to work and turn out a good-looking suit or dress for yourself.

To break the monotony of winter, break into print for your first costume. A tiny white geometric print against a dark ground is universally becoming to the young and not-so-young, because small printed designs, bright as they are, never intrude into the essential lines or details of the dress itself.

So pick a tiny print in some inexpensive, smooth rayon fabric and start to work. Top one with the ruffle-edged yoke and sleeves is as feminine as a fan and enormously flattering. You'll be amazed how quickly the little ruffler attachment on sewing machines turns out yards and yards of this. The ever so slight bounce fullness is turned into fitted perfection with a cluster of darts just above the waistline. The gathering foot attachment is used to coax in the skirt fullness just below hip-curving pockets.

Of course, the basis of every wardrobe is a tailored suit that is elegantly simple and figure flattering. Rayon gabardine is one of the beige tones would be a smart and inexpensive choice for a two-piece suit with a long torso jacket that's slightly cut-away at the front below the single-breasted closing; the skirt is gored and slightly flaring to maintain that slim silhouette look. The tapering revered collar is overlaid with a crisp white pique collar which can be removed easily for laundering—but it's an important accent if you want to look as fresh as the first flowers.

Even those seemingly intricate tailored finishes are easily accomplished with modern sewing equipment. For instance, those slanting slot pockets on the jacket are given just the right professional touch when you use the edge stitcher to achieve a firmly stitched edge. Inside seam edges are again finished in an expert way with the pinking attachment, to eliminate the tedious job of French seams and the possibility of bulking and a wrinkled surface.

News-Journal Page For Women

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, March 4.

UNUSUAL activity in all departments of life may be looked for, according to the mutual and lunar configurations of major planets. There are to be elements of surprise and mystery in connection with occurrences of a sudden and quite unforeseen nature. Intrigue and strategy may be dominant and there may be disruption and radical change involved in accepting these strange adventures.

Those whose birthday it is may be thrilled by a year of sudden and strange adventure of a most intriguing nature. There are to be unique and probably inexplicable experiences in all departments of living, in business, romance, emotional, even spiritual occurrences, descending with sudden and surprising force and causing unplanned change, travel, new objectives.

A child born on this day should be endowed with exceptional talent, probably expressed in some unique form or strange adventure. Although aspirational and highly emotional, yet it will have enterprise and stability of character.

Chicken a la King

2 cups medium white sauce
1 egg yolk
1 cup cooked and diced chicken
¼ cup green pepper and pimento
2 Tbsps, butter
¼ cup celery
½ lb. washed fresh mushrooms or 1 can mushroom caps
Salt and pepper to taste

Put white sauce in top of double boiler, add slightly beaten egg yolk and blend thoroughly. Add chicken. While mixture is heating, cook diced mushrooms, diced pepper, diced celery and diced pimento over very low fire in butter. When tender, add to cream sauce mixture, cook 1 minute to blend and serve in puffs shells. Garnish with fresh or canned green peas. Fish or other meats may be used in place of chicken.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"HAVE YOU taken leave of your senses, by any chance?" I asked my husband, trying to bolster my will-power against his suggestion. "Isn't it imperative that you get in touch with father immediately, and that I go along with you in order to tell Lillian what we have accomplished?"

"Which is exactly zero as far as finding out anything about Marion is concerned," he retorted. "We've found out some interesting things about Carolyn, and father can spike her game when we relay our information to him. But she's safe for several hours, and to my mind, we'd better collect any stray items of news lying around here before we talk to Dad or Lillian or Harry. So until Helena appears again, there's absolutely nothing that you can do unless—do you want me to round up Ronald for you?"

He gave me a sly grin as he put the question, for he knew what my reaction would be.

"No! No!" I exclaimed, knowing how silly it was to get excited at his question, but with my nerves too frazzled to think clearly. "That would be fatal. I must meet Ronald as if by accident."

"Then will you tell me why in the hinges of hell you can't lie down and snatch a few winks of sleep? You know how refreshed you are after just a short nap. Remember you did the driving down here—"

"And you drove all night," I retorted.

"Granted you that," he said imperturbably. "But I do happen to have greater powers of endurance than you."

"'A drate bid strong man,'" I quoted mischievously.

"Just for that," my husband said, advancing upon me and swooping me high in his arms, deposited me on one of the beds. But as he stooped to remove my shoes, I struggled off again.

"These covers are for show only," I said, stripping off one of the dainty covers, revealing a plain but good quality spread beneath. "I'll lie down when I get this folded, provided you'll waken me when Helena gets back from taking care of Carolyn."

"You'll lie down now," my husband said, ruthlessly taking the spread from me. "If you think I can't fold a doodad like this, you have to learn something new about the man you married. Thank Heaven, all your spreads are that chintzy stuff, on which people can stretch out without fear of crushing them."

"Thank you, darling," I said, lying down upon the bed and shrugging my shoes to the floor. "I'll be asleep in one minute. But you haven't promised me to waken me when Helena comes back."

"I'll promise anything on a thousand Bibles," he said a bit impatiently, "if you'll just shut your mouth and your eyes for a spell."

"They're already closed," I retorted, turning on my side, and burrowing my head into the pillow. I felt the soft folds of a blanket drape over me, heard his footsteps stealing away—and knew nothing more until I felt his hand upon my wrist, in the wakening method taught us by Katherine—first gently, then increasing the pressure—and opened my eyes to see his face smiling down at me.

"You see I kept my word," he said. "Helena's just come from Carolyn's room, and is anxious to see you."

"How long was she there?" I asked worriedly.

"A good quarter of an hour," he answered.

"Oh, dear!" I commented, dismayed, and Dicky nodded comprehendingly.

"Long enough to turn the kid inside out, if she were turnable," he said. "But I'm betting that her mother didn't get anything out of her."

Few Methods Of Punishing Most Effective

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Some of my fellow writers and speakers on matters of child guidance joke about my advice on punishments. They say I have only one or two kinds of punishment for every offense by the child under 8 or 10, and their observation is about correct. However, I should like to remind these gentlemen that the Quints seem to have had only one standard type of punishment.

When one of them is naughty she is sent to "jail," to the "scientific jail," a small well-lighted room with very little furniture where she must remain alone—solitary confinement—for a certain period of time.

For the Quints I have a notion this scheme of control is rather wise. Parents of any other child might find it so, though such a "jail" is not available for most children.

Anyway, I consider it far more economical and effective to build for the child an invisible jail (a set of inhibitions) in his nervous system. Even for safety it is more economical, also more dependable. Only a few parents can afford to have a fence to keep the toddler from the street. And there always is some older person to leave the gate open. The invisible fence about the child built easily and securely costs so much less and is so much more dependable—I mean the fence built skillfully with punishment.

Those who have read this column regularly know that I advise parents wishing to train the toddler not to run into the street unprotected and to train him to avoid certain other forbidden acts, to apply the old-fashioned spanking, which to be effective must always immediately follow the forbidden act. The purpose is to connect pain with the forbidden act so he will choose to avoid the act permanently. Punishment should also be connected with the word No or Don't so this word alone will, in new necessary situations, serve to stop the child. Please observe that spanking is advised only to prevent not to make the child do what is desired.

To prove successful, this plan must be agreed upon by both parents who together will select a few situations for which they will punish. Then, no matter which parent is with the child when these few situations arise, he always will be punished instantly and without exception.

Once the youngster learns always to avoid these few forbidden acts, enjoying in the meanwhile hundreds of other permitted acts, and also learns as part of the experience, to respect such words as No, Don't, Stop (rarely heard), this child is ready to graduate from spanking to some substitute for punishment.

The most practical substitute is for him to sit doing nothing for a definite period of time, say 20 minutes, where he can be seen, immediately and always following each punishable offense which the parents had agreed upon before hand.

Worry of FALSE TEETH Slipping or Irritating

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wabbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T FOOL YOUR MATE

Just because your hand is bad, and you don't expect to take any trick against the declarer, is no excuse for playing your cards carelessly. In a spot like that, you should bear in mind that your partner may have cards which will defeat the contract if he plays them to the best advantage. Your job then is to help him play them right, by giving him correct information about your own hand, thus, by indirection, telling him something about the cards held by the declarer. The only time you can safely false-card all over the place is when you are sure you hold the only important cards yourself, and can therefore mislead the declarer to the limit without worrying about your partner.

After West led the diamond 7 and the dummy went down, South saw three possible losing tricks—one in clubs, one in diamonds and one in spades. There seemed to be only one remote chance to make the contract—to lure his opponents into a very terrible combination of defensive mistakes, since the diamond lead made it very likely East had the Q. If he could only make East take his club A on a first round of that suit, and then lead a diamond, he would be home safely.

So South won the diamond 7 with the A, playing the 4 from his own hand, and immediately led the club 8. East studied the situation. He decided South might well have a singleton club, so played his A. Analyzing the diamonds, he saw that the 7 led by his partner must be either a singleton or a fourth-best, in which event he would have to hold also the J, 10 and 9. So he returned his diamond 2. That gave South his contract. If West had led the diamond 9, East would have played differently, and would have beaten the contract positively.

Parents Offer Helps

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Many parents take the trouble to write me that some particular suggestion of mine in this column, or advice in a personal letter, worked. Some other parents also let me give you ideas they have hit upon themselves.

Here is a sample:

"Dear Dr. Myers: As a mother of seven children I read your daily articles with a great deal of interest and have successfully tried out your advice a number of times.

"I feel I am not big enough for this job of mine without outside help occasionally and appreciate the opportunity presented by our daily newspaper. I would like to tell you of something I tried with one of our boys age 12. Other mothers may have used the same plan, but I have never heard of it and it is with the thought that it may help some one through one of the many problems that comes with bringing up a family, that I pass it on.

The System Worked.

"This youngster had an idea he should be paid for every little thing he did around the home. I thought perhaps he was tired of his own chores so we traded with one older. No change, so I decided that, since he is a bit miserly about his allowance, he should have more money of his own. Still no change, so one day I gave him a glass jar full of change and told him we would make a business arrangement about our chores. I would pay him for everything he did and from the jar of money he was to pay me for everything I did for him. He was to set the price. He was delighted and, as he had so few things to do each day, he hunted for jobs. At the end of the day I gave him a list of the everyday things I had done for him, he paid me and I paid him.

"Needless to say his money was soon gone. I did not mention replacing it and he never again even acted like he should be paid and is satisfied with his allowance."

Another mother writes:

"Dear Dr. Myers: Your article appearing in today's paper prompts me to write in answer to your appeal for a better understanding between you and your readers.

"I never found it necessary to write to you for advice on my particular problems because I always had the answers before they were needed.

Followed Doctor's Advice.

"For fifteen years I have been storing in my mind's storehouse your methods on child training so that when a problem arises I can to the best of my ability meet it half way at least.

"I cannot say that I have found all your methods helpful but I can say I gave them a fair trial over a reasonable period of time and my successes have far outnumbered my failures.

"I have two children, Mary Jane, 13, and Lloyd, 2. They are as different as day and night. Mary Jane is mild and sweet tempered, always ready to co-operate and Lloyd is stubborn and self-willed. Each requiring a different kind of handling that I know I could never manage without the knowledge I have gained.

"I thought I knew all about children when I married as I managed as many as sixty at a time in school but what a difference when they are twenty-four hour a day cares. What I didn't know would fill a book. This is one good reason why I stick to your methods. You must have found your own children a problem at home, too, for I often read such statements as 'it worked with mine.' 'I tried it on the children.' 'I made mine responsible, etc. etc. . . .'

"At no time shall I ever hesitate to write for advice or feel that you will be unsympathetic to my appeal. Though I have never had the pleasure of meeting you I feel you are one of my best friends.

"Thank you again for your help."

Such letters make me feel humble but spur me on to strive harder to write a useful column.

Solving Parent Problems.

Q. Are there self-helps in arithmetic for the child in the grades?

A. Yes. Write me in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp, and let me send you a graded list of such helps.

Q. My three-year-old will open the refrigerator when I am not there.

A. Never leave her alone in the kitchen. Every time she opens the refrigerator punish her.

Nut Spice Muffins.

2 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ cup chopped nuts
1 egg
1 cup milk
¼ cup melted shortening

Sift dry ingredients together and add nuts. Combine beaten egg, milk and shortennig and mix into dry ingredients, stirring only until moistened. Drop by spoonfuls into greased muffin pans and bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

* * *

Pineapple Feather Frosting.

1½ cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
5 tablespoon unsweetened pineapple juice
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon light corn syrup
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind

Combine egg whites, sugar, salt, corn syrup and pineapple juice in upper part of double boiler, mix thoroughly. Put over boiling water and beat with rotary egg beater 7 minutes, or until frosting stands in peaks. Remove from heat, add lemon rind and beat until of spreading consistency.

HOW TO GET A LOAN TO PAY YOUR DOCTOR BILL

You can get $100 to pay old debts or other expenses if you can repay $4.46 a month for 30 months—Loans made without endorsers or guarantors—A simple, private way to borrow.

HAVE unusual expenses caught you short of ready cash? Do you need money to pay old bills? If you have a steady job, you can readily borrow $20 to $500—and repay in small monthly installments.

Suppose that you need $100. Find this amount in the first column of the table. Then read across picking out the monthly payment you wish to make. 12 monthly installments of $9.46 each, for instance, will repay a $100 loan in full. The cost, in this case, averages less than 4c a day.

You may prefer smaller payments. Only $4.46 a month for 30 months will also repay a $100 loan. The amount you borrow and the time you take to repay it determines the cost. You can borrow $25 for two months, for instance, for only 76c.

Borrow for less

Installments in the table include all charges at Household's rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $300, and ½% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300. This rate is less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Every customer gets the benefit of this rate—whether new customer or former borrower.

Simple to get a loan

All you do to apply for your loan is to acquaint us with your problem. Loans are made on furniture, car or note. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to act as endorsers. At no time do we ask friends or relatives about your credit. If you should get sick or lose your job while paying on your loan, we will show you every consideration.

You are invited to phone or visit us for further information at any time. No obligation to borrow!

Record Crowd Expected For Benefit Boxing Show

Sport Podge by REX HESS

A letter, a long and caustic letter from Mrs. Virginia Lee of Lucas, attempts to put the old Podger in his place, but I just don't know any better—I refuse to stay put.

It contains the usual "dare you to print all, or any part," but so long it is I couldn't print all of it in this column. But I'll print the very best part of it, and that is for the sure!

I gather that Virginia didn't like the difference in space given the county tournament-winning Butler team and the first game-losing Lucas Cubs during the past week, that she believes the Butler-Bellville feud was much over-played, and that other teams in the tourney were sadly overlooked.

* * *

Front-running teams, Virginia, will gather the headlines and the space always. I've no doubt that Lucas, in its championship seasons, had its share of both those commodities. And Lucas will have its share again when it returns to top ranking, as it certainly will with that fine gym for the training of Cub cagers.

And now for the very best part of Virginia's letter. (Mr. Printer, the bold face type, please.)

* * *

"Really, Mr. Hodge-Podger, I can't understand how anyone who can effuse for half a column about one boy forgetting his trunks can lose sight of the fact that there are more than two teams in the Richland county league. Maybe it would be good publicity for some of these less favored teams to play their men without trunks. At least, you would notice their presence."

* * *

Posies for the Podge. Jerry Liska, sports editor and columnist of the Fremont News-Messenger, says in his column, "Press Passes:"

"The sports pages of the Mansfield News-Journal are breathing vim and vigor since Rex Hess has taken the helm. We'd like to be one of the first to extol Hess' snappy column 'Sport Podge.' His typewriter spits plenty of color."

* * *

I expect that's really expectoratin', L. C. Smith. And thank you, Jerry for those kind words. They're more than welcome on this too blue Monday as I read my fan mail.

And you really cover Fremont in that column of yours.

* * *

There will always be fans who disagree with officials in some of their decisions, and sometimes they may be right. But most fans will agree that McClintock and Richardson tried to keep on top of the play throughout the tournament.

They didn't loaf through minor games, and then turn on the steam when favorites tangled. They gave the weaker teams just as good a job of officiating as they did the favorites, and they played no favorites. I have seen officials who used the opposite system.

KELTNER MOVED UP

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(AP)—Manager Roger Peckinpaugh is starting to rearrange the Cleveland Indians' batting order. "He moved Ken Keltner from sixth to second because the third sacker is rated as best hit-and-run batter. Roy Weatherly, the holdout outfielder is due to be the leadoff man.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(AP)—Johnny Allen, the temperamental pitching veteran whose absence from camp had Manager Fred Haney of the St. Louis Browns worried all last week worked out with the squad Sunday for the first time. He declared he was "ready."

Sport Stars To Shine at Tyger Gym

Harmon, Chuckovits Lead Stellar Cage Quintets.

All-American night will be celebrated in Mansfield High school gym Tuesday night when Tom Harmon of All-American football fame and Johnny Townsend, Michigan University's All-Time All-American Cage star, lead their Wolverines against Chuck Chuckovits and his flying White Huts cagers.

Jimmy Rae, captain of last year's Michigan University squad, its leading scorer and a member of the All-American team which played the Globe Trotters in Chicago last fall, will show here along with Herb Brogan, captain of this year's University of Michigan Varsity and Eddie Thomas, a member of the 1937-38-39 Michigan cagers.

As for the Toledo White Huts, they also boast their share of stars. Basketball critics acclaim Chuckovits, one of the greatest shotmakers in professional basketball. His season average of 26.1 points per game is indicative of his ability. His three year inter-collegiate scoring record of 1149 points still stands.

Crossin Hays, captain of U. C. L. A. in 1938-39, who was unable to accompany the White Huts here earlier in the season, will be at center. Jimmy Johnson of Akron West High, who made a hit in the Rens game, will team with Chuck at the forwards. Bob Hayes, Toledo U athlete drafted to play football with Green Bay in the National Pro league, and Billy Jones, former Toledo U captain, will start at the defensive posts.

Tom Harmon will not be a figure-head in the Tuesday night battle. He is expected to play most of the game. All-American Tom led the Michigan University Varsity cagers in scoring in his Sophomore year and his coaches felt he had the makings of a super star. However, Tom agreed to give up basketball on advice of his football coaches who wanted him to devote all of his time and energy to the gridiron.

A preliminary game at 7:30 pits the City League All-Stars against the Myers Cleaners of Ashland. The All-Stars will include: Ken Hardin, Yuncker Brothers; Dave Shelley and Noel Morgan, Athletic Supply; Bob Shade and Howard Poole, Westinghouse; Al Stickler and Kenny Lockhart, Blue Goose Sohioans; Glenn Irey, Ohio Seamless Tube; Jim Tolles, Club Billiards; and Harold Bohantz, Ruhl Radios.

Yarosz Shoots For Ring Title

Conqueror of Six Boxing Champs Meets Bivins.

By LARRY HAUCK

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Teddy Yarosz, the last man to beat Bill Conn, is shooting for another world championship at 30—and he may be only a few fights away from his goal.

The popular Pittsburgher, conqueror of six champions or past champions, held the middleweight title in 1935, losing it to Babe Risko. His "title" victims were Ken Overlin, Solly Kreiger, Lou Brouillard, Vince Dundee, Risko (in a return match) and Conn.

* * *

"I think I can take any of the boys in the 175-pound class," Teddy said. "Conn is a heavyweight now. My record compares favorably with the victories of Anton Christoforidis. Jimmy Webb, Gus Lesnevich, and the rest.

"Sure I'm 30, but I'm in the best shape in years."

* * *

Yarosz has renewed his partnership with Ray Foutts, the manager who piloted him to his title.

"Ray and I have everything straightened out and we're going places," the unmarked veteran of 11 ring years said.

The first place Teddy will go is to a 10-round bout with Bivins, victor in 20 of 21 fights, here Wednesday night. If he stops the Clevelander, Promoter Bob Brickman is ready to match him with Christoforidis.

Christoforidis, who hails from Greece, is recognized as light heavyweight champion by the National Boxing association.

Mangan Signs New Contract

Catcher First Brave To Return Document.

First contract received by the Mansfield Braves of the Ohio State baseball league for the 1941 season is that of Tim Mangan, Dearborn, Mich., catcher, who managed to smack the apple for an even .300 last season during the time he wasn't laid up with a broken ankle.

* * *

Contracts were mailed to players last week, and other early returned signatures are expected in the next few days.

* * *

On the reserve list of the Braves are the following players: Walter Missler, Toledo, catcher; Donald Wentz, Springfield, catcher; Schuyler Patterson, Detroit, pitcher; Rex Benton, Ashland, pitcher; Tony Drewek, Detroit, pitcher; Harry Siegbart, Chicago, first baseman; "Howdy" Beals, Columbus, shortstop; Hal Hundemer, Cincinnati, second baseman; Dick Morse, Toledo, third baseman.

* * *

Three members of last year's team have graduated to Charleston, W. Va., in the Mid-Atlantic circuit. They are: Herb Woodling, outfielder, who won the league batting crown with .398; Bob Arnold, right-handed hurler who won 16 and lost 6; and George Laurilla, right-handed flinger, who won six and lost 10 games.

* * *

Manager Dewey Stover and Outfielder Herb Woodten have been released, giving Manager Alex Clowson the job of forming an entirely new outer defense for the Braves this season.

Feller Faces September Draft

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The possibility that Pitcher Bob Feller will become Private Bob Feller before the 1941 baseball season is over gave Cleveland fans plenty of food for speculation today.

* * *

A draft official said there was a "fair" chance that Feller would be inducted into the army around Sept. 1, just as the Indians are heading down the stretch in the American League championship race.

* * *

JOB INTERFERES

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Don McNeill's job in the admission department of Kenyon College at Gambier, O., may prevent him from participating in the national indoor tennis championship here the week of March 10. Scheduled interviews with prospective students stand in the way, McNeill said. McNeill, current outdoor champ holds the indoor title in 1938.

HAS OPERATION

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—(AP)—Maurice Van Robays, slugging outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is getting used to operations. He had two in the spinal region last year. Over the week-end he had another on his right hand for the removal of a sac caused by a bat bruise.

Tourneys Get Under Full Steam

Battle For Chance at State Title Opens.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—From Kelley's Island, 12 miles out in Lake Erie, to Elizabethtown, in the deepest southwest corner of the state, and from Edon in the northwest to Blennerhesset Island in the middle of the Ohio river opposite Belpre, a wildfire of enthusiasm engulfed the Buckeye state today. And it was all started by a round ball and a hoop on a square board.

* * *

Before the fire is extinguished on March 22 at the Ohio Fairgrounds Coliseum with the crowning of the 1941 state "A" and "B" scholastic basketball champions, more than 700,000 fans will pay nearly $175,000 to witness the various county, district, sectional and state tourneys.

* * *

The battle for the 32 priceless positions in the super-finals at the Coliseum on March 20-21-22 has been underway for two weeks as some 850 "B" teams slashed each others' throat in the fight to move on to district meets. A total of 86 county champions have been crowned throughout the state with only Lake and Cuyahoga counties missing from competition.

A total of 243 Class "A" teams will compete in the state's six district and sectional tournaments for the crown now worn by the New Philadelphia Quakers. Prior to the county tourneys, there were 911 "B" teams in the field, but that total has shrunk to less than 300 by the eliminations of the last two weeks.

Here are the tournaments by districts and sites as they are scheduled to open this week:

Tuesday—Delaware, central district; Defiance, Northwestern and Euclid Shore, northeastern; Class B—Westerville, central and Zanesville, eastern.

Wednesday — Class A—Akron and Youngstown, northeastern; Kenton, northwestern and Dayton, southwestern; Class B—Fremont, northwestern; Lorain and Ashland, northeastern and Caldwell, eastern.

Thursday—Class A—Tiltonville and Dennison, eastern; Athens, southeastern; and Cincinnati, southwestern; Class B—Springfield, Dayton and Cincinnati, southwestern; Dover and Steubenville, eastern; Bascom, Leipsic and Lima-Shawnee, northwestern and McDonald, Kent and Chagrin Falls, northeastern.

Friday — Class A—Sandusky, northwestern; Class B — Logan and Waverly, southeastern.

Women Keglers Beat Tractors

The girls didn't get much wood at Dayton but they were right at home on the Meder alleys yesterday as the Royal Crown women's quintet chalked up a 204-pin victory over the Silver King Tractors men's team in a special match.

Mary McMullen showed the way with a 535 total on games of 153-190-192, and Thelma Linster was next with 530 and had a high game of 201. P. Dawson was high man with 507.

Wooster Prepares To Clinch Conference Crown Tuesday

By FRITZ HOWELL
(Ohio AP Sports Editor)

COLUMBUS—(AP)—If comparative scores against mutual opponents mean anything — which they generally don't — you might as well wrap up the Ohio conference basketball championship and donate it to Wooster for the third straight year.

* * *

The Scots must push aside Muskingum Tuesday night at New Concord, but the records hint that they can do it, and thereby clinch the crown.

* * *

The Muskies and the Scots have met eight mutual foes this year, the Woosters beating seven of them and the Muskies five. Wooster's lone league loss was 33-31 to Otterbein, while Muskingum beat the Westerville club 45-43.

Muskingum lost to Wittenberg, Case and Mount Union by a total margin of 20 points, however, while Wooster beat those three quintets by a total edge of 66 points, a Wooster-over-Muskingum edge of about 29 points per game.

In beating Bowling Green, Kent State, Denison and Findlay, the greatest Musky margin was six points, and the total edge for the four games was only 13, while Wooster had an 84-point advantage against the same quartet.

Muskingum, however, will be playing on its home court, generally considered worth eight or 10 points.

Muskingum can't finish better than fifth this year, having won eight of 12 games, while Wooster has won 11 of a dozen. But, should the muskies win (and they bowled over Otterbein, Marietta and Findlay last week) the crown would go to Mount Union's Purple Raiders.

Mount has won eight of nine league tilts, its only loss being to Wooster by 55 to 42. Only 10 more games are on the state slate, nine this week and one March 15.

* * *

This week's slate:

Monday: Marietta John Carroll.

Tuesday: Wooster at Muskingum, Dayton at Xavier, Wilmington at De Sales.

Wednesday: Toledo at Long Island.

Friday: Toledo at St. Joseph's.

Saturday: Muskingum at W. & J., Case at Western Reserve, Detroit U., at Xavier.

Bissman's Edged By Wooster Five

Those hot Bissman Birdie Brand keglers hit over the 3,000 mark again yesterday but they weren't hot enough to catch the torrid Harris Paints of Wooster and dropped their special match at the Meder alleys by 53 pins.

* * *

Wooster rolled every game over 1,000, hitting 1,020-1,012-1,030 for 3,068 while the Birdie Brands were chalking up 958-1,026-1,031—3,015.

* * *

Sonny Meder led both teams with 201-201-245—647 while Art Hilborn had 646 and Winnie Cleckner 621, while for Wooster, Edwards rolled 641, Shelley 620, and Berry 615.

Edwards, who has a pair of 300's this season, turned in high game of 256 in his last trip to the alleys to decide the match.

Fights Have Good Advance Ticket Sale

Al Sauers Meets Michigan Champ In Five-Round Main Bout Tonight

Advance ticket sale for tonight's British war relief fund benefit boxing jamboree at the armory indicate a record crowd for amateur fights in Mansfield, Harold Bailey, ticket chairman, declared today.

Ringside ducats at 75 cents and $1 were snapped up in jig time by Mansfield fight fans and only a few remain for late comers, Bailey said.

There'll be plenty of general admission pasteboards, however, at 40 cents, and fans need not stay away for fear of finding an S. R. O. sign at the armory.

* * *

* * *

Heading the preliminary three-rounders will be Joe Sauers, 150, and John Ousky, 148 of Toledo.

Then down through the card of three-heaters will be: Bob Garber, 146, vs. Ed Cook, Fremont; Adam Miller, 175, vs. Junior Mack, Toledo; Frank Truly, 135, vs. Phil Staley; Bob Emerson, 135, vs. Ed Laubert, Fremont; Mike Sauers, 135, vs. Kenny Leiter, Toledo; and Frankie Lee, 118, vs. Clarence Shanteau, Toledo.

* * *

* * *

All proceeds of the show, staged by Friendly House boxers, go to the British war relief fund after bare expenses are deducted.

NEW YORK—Golfer Willie Turnesa's draft number will be coming up shortly. . . . Right now Jack Doyle, the "wizard of odds," leans to the Yanks and Reds, but he's afraid the draft is going to ball everything up. . . . Dan Cupid just called to say Don Budge has fallen hard for Alice Marble and vice versa. They say she's cut his malted milk quota from 10 to five per day. Also, Don must be thinking of other things than tennis for old Bill Tilden pinned his ears back in Fort Worth the other night.

Jack Curley, veteran boxing instructor in a New York gym, says Dempsey would have polished off Joe Louis in two heats.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune: "How come no one has mentioned that the U. of Oklahoma should expect a brilliant football season now that it has signed Dewey Luster as Coach?" . . . Or that Friday night's fight was a Lou-Lew, Arch?

PERSONAL MENTION.

Judge Landis' new hat is a nifty number. . . . During his 27 years as athletic manager of Colorado Mines, Dave Johnston has seen 13 football coaches set up housekeeping and 12 depart. . . . The south will get a look at Tom Harmon when the Hammond (Ind.) basketball team invades that section soon. . . . If we had had a parlay on Bay View and Big Pebble you can bet we wouldn't be banging out this dope today. . . . Dick Bartell says Charlie Gehringer has the sharpest eyes for balls and strikes of any players in the American league. . . . They booed Lew Jenkins when he entered the ring and booed him after the fight. Made him so sore he wouldn't speak on the radio. Quite a popular character, Lewis.

QUESTION BOX.

Did Jack Duncan, forward on the Rio Grande college basketball team, set a record when he scored 87 points against Capital City college the other night? Write Jim Porter, jr., publicity director, Rio Grande, O.

OMIGOSH!

One of the best baseball writers in the business picked an all-major league color team and who do you suppose he left off? . . . G. Herman Ruth, than whom there is none whomer.

Cincy Bowlers Lead Doubles

Shatter Record In Ohio Women's Tournament.

DAYTON — (AP) — Two Cincinnati housewives shattered the doubles record of the Ohio State Women's Bowling tourney over the week-end.

Ann Blase and Betty Burbrink scored 1185 to eclipse the 1940 mark of 1163 set by Estelle Roesner and Ruth Sauer of Columbus.

* * *

Mrs. Burbrink also swept into second place with 1643 in the Class A all-events, 11 points back of Florence Seeds of Columbus. Hazel Richards of Canton was fourth with 1638.

* * *

Catherine Burling was first in the Class A singles, however, with 610, while close behind in second place was Hazel Richards with 593.

WEARS NO. 13

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—None of the St. Louis Cardinals would wear a No. 13 uniform last year, but there will be one this season—Pitcher Morton Cooper. He asked for it because "I won a raffle with that number when I was a kid." Branch Rickey announced Pitcher Clyde Shoun was en route and would sign on arrival.

MARKET OPENS BUT NOTHING ELSE HAPPENS

Traders Not Interested In Listless Session; No Trends Develop.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market opened today, according to schedule, but that was about all that happened so far as activity or real price trends were concerned.

Bid up occasionally were N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, American Telephone, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, General Electric and Union Carbide.

Bonds and Commodities were as irregular as stocks.

Confusing happenings in the Balkans, brokers said, had much to do with dimming speculative sentiment.

Those worrying over mounting taxes as an important market brake noted figures of the New York Telephone Co. for 1940 which disclosed that for the first time in the concern's history the tax bill exceeded dividend and interest payments. Total imposts for the year increased to $40,014,292 compared with 33,807,286 the year before.

Viewed as constructive was the survey of the magazine "Steel" which found consumers of the metal were ordering in record volume with the thought that "no one can foresee how long the steel industry can avoid stricted federal rationing regulation."

2,000 HOMELESS

Chileans Driven From Homes As Fire Sweeps Town.

SANTIAGO, Chile — (INS) — Aid was rushed from surrounding cities today to San Rosende, where 2,000 persons were homeless after a fire swept the town.

San Rosende had no fire-fighting equipment of its own, and before fire companies could be brought from nearby towns the blaze gained great headway. Most of the town's buildings were destroyed.

How Balkan Crisis Develops

With Germany and Britain both maneuvering for diplomatic and military advantage in the Balkans, Turkey takes the spotlight. As Nazi troops entered Bulgaria, Turkey is reported to have ordered the Dardenelles closed to all ships. British diplomats at Ankara were reported seeking air bases and permission to send warships into the Black Sea. British armed forces obtained one air base by taking the Italian island of Castelrosso.

TWO SUITS ARE SCHEDULED FOR TRIAL BEFORE JURY THIS WEEK

A damage suit resulting from a traffic accident and a suit of a young mother involving the paternity of her child are scheduled for trial this week before the Richland county petit jury.

The jury is due to re-convene Tuesday after a long recess. One case is set for hearing Tuesday, and another Thursday.

On today's calendar had been an action for $15,000 against Ralph Saxer of Sandusky whose automobile allegedly figured in a three-car crash in which Vera Rinehart, Shelby R. D. 1, was injured. The case was settled out of court, however, for an unrevealed amount.

Tuesday's case is against Gerald Mowry, named in an action of a young unmarried mother who seeks support of her child.

Attys. Marshall C. Moore and Leslie K. Wagner represent the mother, while Atty. A. S. Beach is defense counsel.

A $5,150 judgment suit is on the calendar for Thursday. Filed by R. B. Kenton, Mansfield, it seeks damages from John Kobak and L. Gruin, doing business as Miller's Pure Test Milk company, for injuries he received in an accident last Sept. 23 at the intersection of South Adams and South Diamond streets. Kenton contends he suffered multiple injuries when the defendants' truck collided with his car.

Kenton will be represented at the hearing by Attys. Beam and Beam and Frank S. Culp. Defense counsel is Atty. John C. O'Donnell.

U. S. MAIL GOES TO DAVY JONES

Eight Boats Carrying Letters to Europe Sent to Bottom.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The war is filling Davy Jones's locker with mail from the United States.

Eight vessels carrying mail from this country to foreign destinations have been sent to the bottom and 14,501 sacks of mail lost, a postoffice department compilation showed today.

A full sack of mail holds approximately 2,500 letters. Thus the war toll has been close to a million pounds of mail, or about 3,600,000 individual pieces.

FIVE OHIO FIRMS RECEIVE ORDERS

Fugitive on a Dude Ranch + +

By Stephen Payne

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XXIV

"Take 'em, brainless. You're to cut the telephone line between the T Slash and Jimtown as you walk toward that burg. The wire is stuck up on sticks nailed to the fence along-side the road, so you can snip it easy."

"Huh? Why cut it?"

"To keep the hick sheriff of Jimtown from hearing about the robbery until somebody drives to town. . . . About this package I'll slip to you: Hoboes often carry small bundles. So your bundle, looking like dirty laundry, will attract no attention and no one will think it's of any value. Get the idea?"

"Uh-huh, Smoothie. You think of everything."

Smoothie nodded complacently. "Everything," he said. "Now if you fail to make your getaway, if you hear or see somebody slipping up on you, you can throw your bundle away out in the brush. Not a thing'll be found on you. Get it?"

"Sure I get it, Pal. But what if the bundle's found?"

"In that case," said Smoothie, 'certain precautions on my part will steer all suspicion away from me."

"But not away from me," grunted Heavy dubiously. "Jus' the same. I'll be on hand t'night and later I'll be seein' you in Seattle. I ain't never yet crossed up a pal."

* * *

Soon thereafter Barclay was driving his automobile along the road to Jimtown. Heavy's admiring "You think of everything," had reminded Smoothie of a possible serious complication arising to confound his careful plans. Having framed Nancy Eleanor Smith for the robbery of her own stepmother by putting in Nancy's bag Pauline's own securities as well as those of Nancy's two younger sisters, Smoothie believed Mrs. Smythe would at once call in private detectives.

Two persons, Marcia Louise Farnsworth and John William Smith, whom the detective were sure to question, knew Nancy's secret. One or the other might unconsciously make a fatal admission. Furthermore, old John William might be shadowed, his mail and telegrams intercepted. If so—

Upon the cook's arrival at the small cow town he saws the T Slash truck parked in front of Higgs' General Merchandise Store, be-whiskered Stuttering Jake loading it with parcels and boxes. Smoothie pulled up behind the ranch truck, pushed back his white Stetson, drew a package of cigarettes from the breast pocket of his fine fawn-colored flannel shirt —one of two he had purchased in Kansas City—and called a cheery greeting.

"Hello, Jake? How are you this morning? Care to hoist one with me?"

Stuttering Jake showed pleasure at the prospect of "hoisting one." "G—gl—glad t—t—to, Mr. Bar—Bar—Barkle."

Three whiskies had run down thirsty throats before Smoothie inquired if the stage from Dagger Wash had brought the mail to Jimtown. Halfaday Hank's stage had come and gone, Stuttering Jake told him, and Jake had already picked up the T Slash mail.

'Anything for me, Jake? I had to send a wire and I'm expecting some letters of—"

"N—never l—ll—ooked, M—M—Mister Bar-Bar-Barkle. It—it's 'sall in s—s—sack."

"In the T Slash sack, eh? Suppose I just take the mail out to the ranch, Jake? I'll be there an hour before you'll get in."

Stuttering Jake nodded as he lit his pipe.

Smoothie tossed the rather heavy T Slash mail sack to the seat of his car, climbed in and presently stopped in open country where he could see in every direction. To his delight he found two letters for Miss Marcia Louise Farnsworth. Smoothie opened first the enevelope bearing the return address of Wm. F. Waller.

... "Now honey, the devil's to pay. Why did you tell Betty she might go out that night you made your getaway? Of course you didn't know Pauline's securities and yours would be stolen, but because you were the last one alone in the house, all the evidence of theft points to you!

"I'd like to pin the goods on that slippery Hudson Alexander, but Pauline says even he didn't know she'd taken the stuff from the safety deposit box. It seems the slicker was finally showing his hand, though Pauline didn't really see it, by insisting she turn everything into cash for him to put into his theatrical venture. At least it's some comfort he didn't get it.

"The police have Betty under their eye as a possible suspect, but there ain't one chance in a million she did it. Had a good alibi for the evening and didn't get back until after Pauline and H. A. returned from the theater. Confound it! There isn't any sort of clues to point to any one else but you, little girl."

Smoothie Dick let his breath escape in a long-drawn sound of relief. Then he hadn't lost that broken-off piece of his watch fob in the Smythe house! That watch fob so well known to the dicks and the cops, with its snake's head and set with tiny emerald eyes! He read on:

"Nan honey, they've had a warrant sworn out for your arrest, though they've no idea yet where to look for you. So keep out of sight. Don't, don't let anybody know who you really are. Not until this ugly mess is settled. Of course you're innocent. But if you were dragged back here now—

"They're shadowing me, too, more or less, so do not try to write me. I'll somehow manage to keep you hep to how the wind blows. Good-bye and a world of love.

"Your hoppin' mad and mighty troubled Uncle."

"Mr. Smith does seem quite agitated," murmured Smoothie, folding the letter and replacing it in its envelope. "Now I'll read this second letter."

"Darling Nan. I'm so thrilled and scared I don't know whether I'm standing on my head or my heels. I'm thrilled because it's all so terribly, terribly exciting and I'm scared because perhaps they can put you in prison. It all popped out just yesterday. They'd been keeping it a deadly dark secret, only the detective knowing all about the grand mix-up we're in. Believe me, darling, it is tremendously intense.

"At last it's come out, Nan, that all those stocks and bonds —Pauline's as well as yours and your sisters'—are missing. There is an investigator on the job. He's a man named Lovejoy, Alfred E. Lovejoy, heavy-set and dark and human bulldog. Hard boiled! Is he! Well, he blew the case wide open, the papers got hold of it, and Mrs. Smythe is enjoying a nervous collapse. I think she's faked it, but she would put on such an act!

"Lovejoy has asked me a hundred questions. Nan, I never lied to a teacher as I lied to that man. He was clever, trying to trap me, but I admitted nothing.

"Imagine what they're saying, Lovejoy and Mrs. Smythe, and that horrid Alexander too before sleuths caught him skipping out and Lovejoy got on the case and put him in jail as a suspect. I'll bet he's the one who did it, too! Yet Mrs. Smythe says Hudson Alexander couldn't have robbed her that night you vanished so mysteriously. She was positively, absolutely sure all the securities were in her bedroom dresser. She swears they were there when she went out to dinner and to the theater and they were not there when she got home.

"So, Nan, they're saying you're the thief. The nerve of them! One paper came out with the thrilling scare-head: 'NANCY ELEANOR SMITH ACCUSED IN TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLAR THEFT!'

"None of those detectives know where you are, so just sit tight till this hurricane blows over and the real thief's caught. You took only what you had a right to take. So sit tight and don't worry.

"How are you getting along and what's it like—Somebody's coming! I must get this out of sight and in the mail before anybody sees the address. Boy, wouldn't I have trouble trying to explain why I'm writing to Marcia Louise Farnsworth, when that's me! Love and kisses, darling Nan."

Smoothie Dick placed both letters in his inside coat pocket, then continued on his way to the T Slash. "It's just as well Nancy doesn't see these letters until I have picked up the swag. After that . . . I'll get a kick, scaring her out of her wits. Won't the fear of being discovered and arrested persuade her to wire old Bill Smith for that ten grand? I think so.

"I don't believe even Lovejoy—damn that man, an old acquaintance of mine! has the least idea yet where the girl's gone. I'm still safe. Still safe."

* * *

At the T Slash he parked his car near the Lodge, strolled in and handed the mail sack to Mrs. Perriwell, explaining, "I drove to Jimtown to send a telegram. I was also expecting an important business letter, so Stuttering Jake gave me the sack to see if the postmaster had put it in with the ranch mail."

During this forenoon Nancy found a few free moments when she used to visit the bunkhouse with the thought of doing something nice for Cinders. He had been good to her again last night, and whether or not he was a thief, as her uncle's letter so strongly indicated, Nancy stoutly refused to believe it, and she needed his help.

At least she needed some one's help and advice. The snooping detective who dared to pose as a ranch buyer had showed his hand at last and Nancy felt she must ask somebody she could trust what to do about his blackmailing demand for ten thousand dollars. She feared that the man could indeed take her back to Philadelphia, not merely because she had left home, but because she had brought with her securities that she as yet had not the legal right to touch.

* * *

However, this was not Nancy's only great worry on this, her second morning on the dude ranch. Kirk Maxwell had refused to admit her when she went to put his cabin in order. He was pounding his portable typewriter like mad, typing for his horrible magazine an article concerning not only Marcia Farnsworth but others on the dude ranch as well. Right after breakfast Maxwell had been snapping pictures right and left with his hateful camera. Ike Skettles had posed for his. Nancy had not, yet she knew Maxwell had caught her on the wing as it were. Article and photos must never leave this ranch!

The girl darted lightly into the bunkhouse where, like Smoothie Dick, she had learned whose bunk was whose in the untidily masculine abode. Cinders' bunk was bedecked with a hay mattress, a pair of shoddy blankets, heavy quilt and pillow with a blue cover. Intending to tear his bed apart and remake it, Nancy lifted the pillow, thus exposing a leather billfold, on which three clear-cut initials—"J. W. S."—practically slapped her in her face.

Her lips tight, her eyes dry and burning, she dropped the pillow back where it had been and fled.

WALSH PACES NEW BLAST AT WAR AID BILL

Massachusetts Senator Calls It Equivalent of Full War Declaration.

TWO CONTRADICT HIM

Senate Leaders Now Striving For Vote on Disputed Bill By Saturday.

BULLETIN

..WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky said today that he was considering asking opponents of the British aid bill to agree to a time limit on debate.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senator Walsh (D-Mass) keynoted a lengthy attack on the lease-lend program today with the announcement: "I look upon this bill as equivalent to a declaration of war."

"Once in war," he asserted. "there can be no turning back. The congress will have no choice, the people will have no choice. Such a war will not be America's war. It will be a world war in which we will join in world ruin."

This war view was contradicted by two supporters of the bill. Senators Smathers (D-NJ) and Tunnell (D-Del.)

Smathers said he was tired of "this parrot-like prattle" that war would follow. The opposition, he remarked, had used that argument a year ago when the arms embargo was lifted, and again when the selective service act was being discussed.

Tunnell declared, "I am one of those who believe that this bill will not cause war."

Should war come, however, "it will be easier," he predicted, "for America to defeat a weakened Germany." The reich, he said, would be weakened by the strong British defense which te bill would make possible.

Thus, with the accent on war danger or lack of it, the senate reached its third week of British aid debate, convening an hour earlier in an effort to accelerate proceedings.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the foreign relations committee said that he would "do everything in my power to bring about a vote by Saturday."

SETS JURY DATE

Lutz To Submit 30 Cases To March Grand Jurors.

County Prosecutor Harold Lutz said today he would call the new January term grand jury into session for the first time during the week of March 17, and probably on Tuesday, March 18.

There will be more than 30 cases on the docket, he said, requiring at least two days to complete the session. It will be the first grand jury session in three and a half months.

Most of the cases will involve defendants accused of breaking and entering, robbery, forgery and non-support. There are no murder or manslaughter cases on the docket so far.

Scores of witnesses will be called to testify before the jury, but the prosecutor had not completed the list today.

'Katsy' Has a Bad Night Aloft On Swaying Telephone Wires

Maybe March Lion Chased Him Up There But All's Well Now.

By MARIANNE McCABE

FOR all anyone knows it was the roaring March lion that chased "Katsy" up a telephone pole last night and caused him to spend the dark hours swaying perilously on a pair of wires near the home of his owners, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hedeen, 476 Chevy Chase. Katsy, of course, couldn't tell how he happened to get up there. He's only a tomcat. But he did plenty of complaining.

Neighbors heard him meowing from his perch last night, but because of the darkness they couldn't discover exactly where he was. Nor, for that matter, could they tell that it was Katsy.

He was still crying this morning when the neighbors awakened and discovered his predicament and identity.

They called to him; but Katsy just kept on swaying and crying. Then Mrs. Hedeen was notified.

She said simply, "Kitty, kitty," and Katsy came down promptly.

He was soaking wet and scared—or frozen—almost stiff but at least he wasn't in the doghouse. He got a breakfast of chicken liver, milk and bread, and then the Heedens' young daughter, Sara Ann, wrapped him in warm blankets so he wouldn't catch cold.

Besides, the family dog, Pal, an English pointer, was too busy sleeping in his doghouse to move over, even if anyone had wanted to put Katsy in there.

Katsy's a pretty high-climbing cat anyhow. Not more than two weeks ago, he was missing from home for three days, and it took the city service department to fetch him down from a tall tree, where he was held fast, with his tail frozen to a branch!

Oh yes, and when Pal became a member of the Hedeen household, Katsy was so disgusted that he climbed up another tree and pouted for two days.

Now, however, he and Pal eat from the same dish, although Katsy has priority rights. If things don't go right, he chases Pal at a merry clip around the neighborhood.

Katsy's snug again with Sara Ann Heeden.

PARKING METER REVENUE DROPS

Collections Total $274 Less In February, But More Tickets Go Out.

Two holidays and a short month cut into parking meter collections during February, with revenue from the 413 machines totaling $3,166, the lowest amount during the three months they have been in operation. But more parking meter violations were reported.

A report submitted to city officials today from the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank, auditing agent, showed that collections decreased $274 below the January revenues and dropped $660 from the December total, the first full month the machines were in operation.

It was pointed out however, that February is considered a poor business month and that the collections are expected to show an increase in March.

Since the meters were in-

With the number of measles cases mounting rapidly it was estimated there were 500 in Sandusky county.

It's Like Spring Today, But It Won't Be for Long

Rain Tonight to Turn to Snow, And Tuesday's to Be 'Much Colder,' Forecast Declares.

Mansfielders basked in a spring pre-view today, but the weatherman took most of the pleasure out of it by forecasting another cold wave for tonight or Tuesday.

With most of the snow and ice washed away by a light rain this morning, the mercury moved up to 49 degrees at noon, the highest mark in more than three weeks.

Dispelling any idea that spring may be here ahead of schedule, the weatherman predicted that rain will change to snow tonight as a cold blast sweeps into Ohio from the Canadian northwest to drop the mercury far below freezing again.

Even in the extreme northern part of the state where highways have had snow and ice on them for several weeks, the state highway department said roads are clear as a result of the thaw.

Snow, rain and dust storms plagued the western states today as a storm area moved eastword across virtually the entire nation. A foot of snow stalled trains in Colorado, while dust clouds darkened the skies over New Mexico, Kansas and Texas, and heavy rain continued in California.

OK'S WPA FUNDS

President Approves Allocation of 375 Millions.

WASHINGTON —(NS)— President Roosevelt signed a bill today appropriating $375,000,000 for the work projects administration for the remainder of the 1941 fiscal year.

The bill also carries $6,670,000 for temporary defense housing, $269,000 for the naval training station at Newport, R. I., and $253,775 for the station at Great Lakes, Ill.

Meanwhile, a persisting head cold caused Mr. Roosevelt to cancel all appointments today and remain in his White House study. Rear Admiral Ross T. MacIntire, White House physician, said the president was running no temperature.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Fire starting in the basement routed 21 families from an apartment in residential Avondale yesterday. Damage was estimated at $3,500.

City Officials Will Discuss One-Man Police Cruiser Plan

Feasibility of substituting one-man police cruisers for the present system of two-officer patrols was to be discussed today by city officials.

Mayor William J. Locke said he would confer this afternoon with Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton and Police Chief Meade K. Bates on the advisability of the single-man cruiser idea.

His action in discussing the subject, he said, was prompted by "certain members of city council" who have complained of lack of enforcement of traffic regulations by the police department.

Locke said the legislators had pointed out that at least two more officers would be available for beat duty in the business district if the one-man cruiser system was adopted.

It was pointed out, the mayor asserted, that numerous cities, some larger than Mansfield, were using the single-man cruiser system with success.

The "certain members" of council that the mayor referred to, it was learned, had surveyed the business district during the past week and had complained that the parking meter ordinance was not being properly enforced.

On this basis, it was understood, council at its March meeting tomorrow night is likely to turn down legislation authorizing the

BULLETIN

ISTANBUL —(AP)— Unofficial reports, not confirmed by the Associated Press, said today that "a high German official" would arrive at Ankara tomorrow to confer with Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu.

(By United Press)

ANKARA — Semi-official Turkish quarters said today that Germany's entry into Bulgaria had nullified the Turkish-Bulgarian declaration of non-aggression.

This statement was made as it was revealed officially that Turkey had called three new classes of troops to the colors.

Semi-official Turkish sources said that the German entry into Bulgaria has deprived Bulgaria of her independence and in view of the change in Bulgaria's status the declaration of non-aggression no longer can be held binding.

It was added that Turkey cannot be expected to act until or unless German troops attack Greece or Turkey or both.

It was said that three classes of troops had been demobilized in connection with calling up of new levies.

(According to the authoritative stateman's year book there are about 175,000 men in an annual class in Turkey, of whom about half are passed for service. That would mean a total of more than 250,000 men in three classes, but there was no indication in the Ankara dispatch of the actual number involved.)

At the same time the government restricted the war time

RUNS BLOCKADE

German Freighter Arrives In Rio With Planes.

RIO DE JANERIO—(NS)—Loaded with planes and chemicals, the North German Lloyd freighter Lech arrived in Rio De Janerio unexpectedly today from Bordeaux in German-occupied France.

Capt. Frederick Bunkmann refused all details as to the vessel's course, commenting only that the passage was "very good" and that he met no hindrances from the British blockade.

Presumably, the cargo aboard the 3,290-ton freighter represented shipments by German commercial firms to customers in South America. Notice of the Lech's arrival was believed to mark the first such publicly known crossing through the British blockade since the war began.

DECISION DAY

Bridges, Newspaper Cases Likely To Be Decided.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The supreme court may rule today on contempt of court convictions both of Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader, and the Los Angeles Times as a result of the publication of comment on court cases prior to a final settlement.

These cases, argued last October, were among a total of 27 on which decisions were possible as the tribunal reassembled after a two-week recess.

HOME RAZED

Neighbors Save Doctor's Library From Flames.

CHAGRIN FALLS — (NS) — The 14-room home of Dr. George W. Ryall, well-known Cleveland physician, was leveled to the ground today, following a $20,00 fire which swept the dwelling while Dr. Ryall and his family were at a theater.

Neighbors and passing motorists saved Dr. Ryall's library and most of the furniture in the home.

LATE WAR BULLETINS

ATHENS — (AP) — The Greek ministry of home security declared today that rescue work had to be suspended at Larisa during an hour-long Italian air raid yesterday on that earthquake stricken town.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—(AP)—Premier Dragisa Cvetkovic and Foreign Minister Alksander Cincar-Markovic conferred at length with Regent Prince Paul today after the premier had returned suddenly by airplane from his home province. Authoritative quarters said the talks concerned the possibility of Yugoslav membership in the Axis three-power pact.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The state department advised the treasury today to "freeze" Bulgarian funds in the United States as a result of the entrance of German troops in that country.

BERLIN—(AP)—The German high command asserted today that three vessels totaling 21,000 tons had been sunk by Nazi submarines and planes and that two other vessels were damaged "badly," all presumably yesterday.

ROME — (AP) — Italian torpedo boats sank two "enemy submarines" in the Mediterranean, the Italian high command reported today, and added that an Italian submarine sank three steamers totalling 20,000 tons in the Atlantic.

WITH BRITISH FORCES, East Africa—(AP)—A British communique reported today the occupation of Villaggio Duca Degli Abruzzi, described as an important agricultural center 80 miles north of Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland.

URGES CURB ON DEFENSE TIE-UPS

Assistant War Secretary Seeks To Re-establish Mediation Plan of World War.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Undersecretary of war Robert P. Patterson today recommended re-establishment of the World war labor mediation system so that the United States will have the benefit of "every man hour of labor" it can throw behind the defense program.

Strikes caused a loss of 120,000 man-days of defense labor in the last week of February, and this loss is causing defense officials as much concern as "a shortage of basic materials," Patterson told the house judiciary committee.

Before compulsory regulatory legislation is imposed, Patterson said, the World war labor mediation system should be given a fair trial.

"The United States needs every man hour of labor it can put forth for defense production," Patterson said. "There must be no strikes and no stoppages."

Patterson's proposal was similar to that offered the committee last week by William S. Knudsen, defense production chief. Knudsen suggested that a 40-day "cooling off" period be required, to give opportunity to settle defense labor disputes before strikes are effective.

CHINA TRIP OFF

Willkie Shelves Visit To Orient For Time Being.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Wendell L. Willkie, it was learned today, has shelved temporarily his idea of a "look-see" trip to China.

Willkie, who spent several days last week in his home-state, Indiana, has returned to New York to make plans for private law practice.

Willkie made a flying tour to Britain's recently and, testified later in behalf of the administration's aid-to-Britain bill.

Selective Service Boards Name 35 To Leave Friday

Thirty-five men to fill Richland county's quota in the sixth draft call had been chosen today by the county's three selective boards. The group will leave at 8 a. m. Friday for the Ft. Hayes induction station, Columbus.

Board clerks said 40 more prospective selectees will be called to the Mansfield Armory Wednesday morning for physical examinations.

The examination call was issued to Board 1 men with order numbers up to 978, Board 2 men to number 707, and Board 3 registrants to number 800.

Todd Patton, clerk of Board 1, said the advisory board in the No. 1 district will meet from 7 to 9 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday nights, beginning tomorrow night, at board headquarters at 603 Farmers bank building to help registrants fill out their questionnaires. Members of the advisory

Rickenbacker 'Slightly Improved at Atlanta Hospital.

ATLANTA—(AP)—Lying in an oxygen tent to facilitate breathing, Eddie Rickenbacker, injured in the crash of an Eastern Air Lines sleeper plane near here Thursday, was reported "slightly improved" today by hospital attendants.

A physician said Rickenbacker "slept more last night than any time since entering the hospital.

"His general condition is somewhat better but he is still seriously sick.

The president of the EAL and famed World war pilot was placed in the tent yesterday and also given a blood transfusion as a "matter of feeding after his condition became worse.

GERMAN AGENT JAILED

WASHINGTON—(UP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Friedrich Ernst Auhagen on charges of failure to register with the state department as an agent of the German government.

Disastrous Weekend Traffic Brings Arrests, 3 Injuries

Climaxing a disastrous week-end in which traffic accidents claimed two lives, three other persons were injured, one seriously, in the Richland county area as Ohio chalked up the greatest three-day toll of the new year with 23 persons killed on the state's highways.

The accidents occurred in the face of an extensive drive by state highway patrolmen to curb speeding and reckless driving which brought the arrest of five drivers in the Mansfield area in the past two days.

Pleading guilty to a charge of speeding, Paul M. Tenny was fined $25 and costs. Officers charged that the heavy tractor-trailer outfit was being driven at 40 miles above the statutory limit for such vehicles.

Thomas G. Sayhart, 30, Mansfield, R. D. 4, pleading guilty to a charge of crashing a stop sign when driving onto U. S. route 42 from Aker road in Lincoln Heights this morning, was fined $5 and costs and Ralph Smith, Columbus, was fined $35 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an overweighted vehicle on the state highways.

Adolf Hitler's mechanized legions rolled across Bulgaria toward the Greek and Turkish frontiers today, threatening to create new front in the European war.

As the fateful march to the south and southeast proceeded, Turkey mined the strategic Dardanelles—waterway between the Black sea and the Mediterranean—and barred them to all ships without a special permit.

Turkish warships were reported steaming out of Istanbul, across the Sea of Marmora, en route to the Dardanelles.

In Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, British Minister George W. Rendel informed King Boris III that Britain would break off diplomatic relations with Bulgaria, probably tomorrow. A state of war, he said, "undoubtedly" would follow.

Authoritative quarters in Ankara disclosed that Turkey has mined the Dardanelles and taken "full defense precautions."

Turkish officials withheld comment on the question of mobilization, but the government-controlled Turkish press chorused a prediction that Bulgaria would soon become a battlefield.

A newspaper closely connected with the Turkish foreign office said Bulgaria's army would be used to counter Turkish troops and "hide the action of the German army which will be conducted against Greece."

Unconfirmed advices from the Yugoslav frontier said British warplanes had already bombed

Bank Clearings For February Top '40 By Big Margin

Maintaining the rapid pace set in December, Mansfield bank clearings for February amounted to $8,120,379, a gain of $765,344 over the same month last year, Dale Kaylor, secretary of the Clearing House association, said today.

Clearings last month reflected the best February for Mansfield business since 1937. Clearings were slightly under figures for January, but the decrease was due partly to the shorter month, Kaylor said.

The February clearings brought the total for the first two months of this year to $16,733,016 as compared to $15,273,941 for the corresponding months of 1940, an increase of approximately $1,460,000.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Speaking For Myself.

I LIKE to see these things on Broadway: Standees in the theaters, crocuses in the florists' windows, horseplayers in Lindy's, mink coats on chorus girls, Helen Hayes arriving early at her stage door, swing hounds at the early show at the Paramount, circus posters going up on the side streets.

Kilgallen.

I don't like to see these things on Broadway: Blind beggars with little shivering dogs, mob lads in their swiss cheese colored polo coats, rain at 8:30, war headlines on the newsstands, drunks threading through the Times Square traffic, and the brazen, rude, insistent sidewalk photographers who leer at you behind their lenses.

Am I wrong, or are debutantes getting a little more buxom? . . . I adore Fred Allen.

When Carmen Amaya dances her violent fandangoes, I can almost smell the white smoke of gypsy campfires. . . . I can't think of anything more revolting than those pink and green drinks the out-of-towners order in the smart spots. . . .

The Barberry room is still Manhattan's best locale for courting. . . . I think the Sunday afternoon swing concerts at Le Ruban Bleu are a wonderful idea of dilettantes with nothing to do between church and balloon night at the Stork. . . . I think the best sufferers in the cinema are Margaret Sullavan, Irene Dunne, and Barbara Stanwyck. Sylvia Sidney, when she was torturing the celluloid, gave them all a run for their hearthrobs.

* * *

There is no limit to the number of times I could sit through "Life with Father," "Arsenic and Old Lace," and "Panama Hattie." . . . Bob Hope always makes me giggle on the radio, in the movies, and in the flesh. . . .

Angel food is the lobster Johnny Phillips, of Frankie and Johnny's, dishes up for privileged guests.

I hear Benny Goodman is introducing a musical version of the book, "My Sister and I," written by the little Dutch boy who kept a diary during the blitzkrieg against Holland. Sounds very tender and interesting.

I never expect to see Tommy Manville in the automat, Mrs. Harrison Williams in a bargain basement, or a newsreel without an airplane, although I would like to see all three. . . . I don't think there's anything more romantic than a hoop skirt. . . .

I've often wondered what makes people buy strange pets like monkeys, leopards, lion cubs, and white mice. . . . I've observed that on opening nights of Broadway plays the persons more nervous than the actors are the electricians taking their cues at the switchboards. . . .

After watching Kay Kyser shag and scamper across a stage, I think most jitterbugs would be disappointed to meet him away from the mike. The hilarious prof. of the College of Musical Knowledge is as reserved and soft-spoken as an on-the-square professor from a big league university. . . .

* * *

Never saw anything like the way young Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., is taking his law clerking seriously, and jiving around generally like a young man starting at the bottom but determined to make good.

I can remember when he used to loll through an elaborate and leisurely luncheon at 21, contributing freely to the jesting and lingering over his lamb stew Parisienne as if he had nothing to do until tomorrow.

Now he bolts into the Mayan for a quick sandwich and a cup of coffee, downs them in a rapid bid for indigestion, and dashes out as if he were afraid his desk might not be there when he got back.

I have never seen Philadelphia scrapple, although I've been hearing about it all my life. I know it's something to eat, but I have no idea whether it is fish, flesh, or fowl, and I wouldn't recognize it if Vincent Sardi put it in front of me some evening.

Nothing like a flock of Hollywood arrivals to put a zip in the atmosphere of the Main Stem. . . . Note to Joe Schenck, who was reported going daffy looking for a story editor: Have you tried to get Bertram Bloch? He's only the best. . . .

Nothing in the prize ring is more exciting than Joe Louis when he's stalking an opponent, deadfaced, little-eyed, and bored with it all. . . . Ina Claire's name on a marquee makes the street look more like Broadway.

HOLLYWOOD—"The Strawberry Blonde." Screenplay by Julius J. and Phillip G. Epstein, from play by James Hagan. Directed by Raoul Walsh. Principals: James Cagney, Olivia de Havilland, Rita Hayworth, Alan Hale, Jack Carson, George Tobias, Una O'Connor, George Reeves.

This second film version of the play "One Sunday Afternoon" looks backward, with accent on comedy, on the good old days early in the present century, when a girl who smoked was daring and spades were universally called agricultural implements. It's a lusty, hearty excursion backgrounded by the music of the period that fostered barbershop quartets and such expressions as "23, Skidoo."

ROBBIN COONS

* * *

It's the story of Biff Grimes (Cagney), correspondence school dentist, who gets the worst of all his dealings with Hugo Barnstead (Carson), the vulgar, boastful city slicker. Worst set-back Biff endures is Hugo's marriage to Biff's worshipped Virginia (Hayworth) the strawberry blond who with her beauty, "modesty" and coquetry embodies his ideal of womanhood. On the rebound he marries Amy (de Havilland), the sweet girl who had tried to impress him with her assumed naughtiness.

Upcoming Miss Hayworth is a beauty in those period costumes and coquets convincingly, but the de Havilland naughtiness (she winks!) is the comic highlight. Put "The Strawberry Blonde" down as a thoroughly enjoyable movie.

"Adam Had Four Sons." Screenplay by William Hurlbut and Michael Blankfort from Charles Bonner novel, "Legacy." Directed by Gregory Ratoff. Principals: Ingrid Bergman, Warner Baxter, Susan Hayward, Fay Wray, Richard Denning, Johnny Downs, Robert Shaw, Charles Lind, Helen Westley, June Lockhart.

The new governess, Emilie, fitted with radiant devotion into the home of the wealthy Adam Stoddards with their four sons. When Mrs Stoddard (Wray) died, she charged Emilie with the care of her children. Financial reverses, however, robbed Adam of his mansion, forced him to send Emilie away pending better times.

The World war boom restored Adam to his home, and Emilie, still young, more devoted, more mature, returned. Returned, however, to a problem — the boy David, about to leave for France, had married the pert, beguiling and guileful Hester.

It is a well told, dramatically interesting tale. In a cast unmarred by poor performance, the talented Miss Bergman as Emilie enriches the impression she made in "Intermezzo" and little Susan Hayward, previously of doubtful note as the ingenue of "Beau Geste," delivers a credible characterization of the sweet dish of poison labeled Hester.

$300,000 Urged for Area Flood Control

VOTES TUESDAY ON DIVERSION OF TAG FUNDS

Senate OK Seen By G. O. P. Leaders; Measure Due To Give Help to Cities.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — The $5,000,000 auto license diversion comes to a vote tomorrow in the Ohio senate, and the Republican leadership expressed confidence that it would be approved.

The measure, reported out of committee two weeks ago, has been kept off the calendar due to opposition from the Democratic minority and indecision of a few Republicans.

Sen. Frank E Whittemore, Republican floor leader, said today that the "great majority" of senators would endorse it.

Sen. Grant P. Ward, a Republican lieutenant, asserted that "there is no real argument which the city senators can raise against the tag reallocation because the cities will receive an additional $1,400,000 under the bill."

The $1,400,000 would be given to the cities at the expense of the counties.

The main feature, however, permits the diversion of approximately $5,000,000 in auto license tag revenue from highway purposes to general operating expenses, traffic enforcement and street cleaning.

If the auto tag allocation is to be effected, it should be done this month because the revenue will be distributed in April.

Its enactment might crimp the Democratic senators' efforts to increase the local governments' annual share of the sales tax from $12,000,000 to $16,000,000, since the Republicans could say the $5,000,000 tag diversion was adequate. The taxation committee begins hearings tomorrow on the Lipscher bill to increase the sales tax allocation to $17,000,000.

Senate passage of the liquid fuel reenactment is expected this week. The bill extends the cent-a-gallon tax for two years. The levy produced about $14,500,000 last year.

Meanwhile, part of the executive budget, listing financial needs of state departments for 1941-42, should reach the legislature this week, and provide a more accurate picture of the state's condition.

AKRON FEARING FAMINE OF GAS

Truck Drivers Go on Strike, More Filling Stations Closing Hourly.

(By Associated Press)

AKRON—The populous Akron district faced a gasoline famine today as a truck drivers' strike hourly forced additional filling stations to close.

More than half the 700 stations in Summit and Medina counties failed to open for business today and many others estimated their supply would be exhausted by noon.

Pumps in Portage and other adjoining counties also ran dry as motorists drove miles to fill their tanks.

Only stations supplied by railroad tank cars were ready to meet the increasing demand.

The AFL truck drivers, who struck Friday night to enfore demands for an 8 per cent wage increase, said arrangements had been made to haul fuel oil for private homes and naphtha for industrial plants.

No new outbreaks were reported in the strike, directly affecting about 80 drivers.

Policemen, strikers and CIO members clashed Saturday night at an Akron station as the truckers attempted to tie up business by one-gallon purchases. The station was being manned by CIO attendants.

WILMINGTON HAS BLUE SUNDAY, AND TODAY'S ITS BLUE MONDAY

(By Associated Press)

WILMINGTON, Del. — Blue Monday followed blue Sunday in Delaware today as milkmen and motormen, delivery boys and radio executives prepared to answer police court summons for violation of the state's 200-year old blue law.

More than 500 such orders were issued yesterday in the state-wide drive for 100 per cent enforcement of the statute which prohibits "all employment (works of charity and necessity excepted)" on the Sabbath. The penalty is a fine of $4, or a night in jail, or both.

The program was instituted by Atty. Gen. James R. Morford, who says the act either should be repealed or adhered to strictly—and in remarks on the day's activities he criticized a minister who broadcast a sermon.

The public apparently suffered little inconvenience, for many of those arrested shut up business just long enough to sign bail and then reopened.

In Wilmington, where 250 arrests were made, those summoned included a union picket who was parading in front of a hotel. A hotel which had a religious organization's breakfast scheduled required those in attendance to register as guests.

One of the few communities where enforcement was not attempted was Dover, the state capital. No explanation was volunteered by officials.

The enforcement move started after the state house of representatives rejectd a senate-approved "repealer" amendment to the old statute. Later the house voted to reconsider the proposal.

DIES AT HOME

Paradise Hill Resident To Be Buried In Kentucky.

PARADISE HILL — Joseph B. Upchurch, 55, died at his home here Sunday at 7:30 p. m., following an illness of four months. He was born Oct. 28, 1885, in Clinton county, Ky., and was formerly a rubber worker in Akron.

And a few minutes later, a young man stepped off the Glessner avenue bus, lost his hat and had to chase it across Glessner and a considerable distance down Carpenter road before he recovered it. It was still later, before he recovered his breath.

ILLNESS FATAL

Former Mansfielder Succumbs at Marengo Home.

Mrs. Harry P. Osborn, 58, former Mansfield resident, died Sunday night at her home in Marengo, Morrow county, after an illness of several months.

She had lived in Mansfield and Richland county during the early part of her life, moving to Marengo after she was married more than 30 years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday at the residence and at 3:30 p. m. at the Mansfield cemetery. Burial will be in the cemetery here.

Surviving are the husband, Harry P. Osborn; two sons, Harold and Philip of Marengo; a daughter, Mrs. Lois Pattison of the home; three brothers, W. Byron Crider, Floyd J. Crider, and Earl C. Crider, all of Mansfield; a sister, Mrs. Belle McMillan, Marengo, and three grandchildren.

JUDGE WILL BE MAIN SPEAKER

Trustees, Clerks to Hear Huston At Meeting Tuesday.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Richland County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the courthouse.

John W. Selby, Madison township trustee and president of the county association, said a report of the recent state convention of township officials in Columbus will be submitted to the group.

Resolutions passed at the state meeting called for passage of legislation to improve justice of peace courts, setting up of special fire protection districts in townships outside municipalities, and a law placing township clerks in charge of the sale of all hunting and fishing licenses in townships.

IMPROVEMENTS AT TWO DAMS RECOMMENDED

Army Engineers Would Spend $288,000 at Pleasant Hill After July 1.

U. S. Army engineers today recommended a $369,800 share of federal funds for operation costs and improvements in the Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill reservoir sections in Richland and Ashland counties for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The money, which would be distributed on the basis of $288,700 to the Pleasant Hill area and $81,000 to the Charles Mill section east of Mansfield, would come from an appropriation of $6,917,500, the army engineers are seeking for flood control work.

The funds would finance relocation of highways, reimbursement of the flood district for work in the reservoir areas, and operation and care of the dams and lakes.

At the same time engineers announced completion of the Muskingum flood control and conservation project at a cost of more than $36,000,000 to the federal government. The Muskingum area includes 14 dams and 16 counties. The federal government took over the huge project last year after the Muskingum Watershed district had completed a part of the work.

The dams are serving a double purpose in helping to control flood waters in the Muskingum and Ohio river valleys and providing recreation areas throughout eastern Ohio.

In submitting their request for funds to congress, the army engineers said $357,793,925 could be "profitably expended" throughout the nation on flood control projects during the fiscal year.

SOLDIER KILLED

5 Others From Camp Shelby Injured In Crash.

CAMP SHELBY, Miss.—(AP)—An automobile carrying six Hamilton, O., soldiers crashed into a bridge and burned near Picayune last night, killing one and injuring the other five. The men were returning to camp from a weekend trip to New Orleans.

Private Sherman Campbell was killed. He was attached to Company C, 147th Infantry, 37th division.

Injured were: Privates Leo Hires, possible leg fractures; Carl Foster, Robert Engel, Arthur Henes, and Sergeant Alvin Ratliff.

The soldiers were taken to a sanitarium. They told doctors that their driver was blinded by the lights of an approaching machine.

Liner Grounded On First Voyage, Refloats Herself

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass.—(INS)—The crack new $2,350,000 liner President Hayes, on her maiden voyage with government materials for United States outposts, refloated herself at high tide early today after being grounded for three hours on the western entrance to the Cape Cod canal.

The liner headed back to Boston where she had left yesterday for New York on the first leg of a 29,000-mile 90-day journey. Coastguard vessels and private tugs stood by, but no assistance was necessary.

The liner was expected to be placed in drydock for an examination to determine whether she suffered any damage.

The 10,500-ton craft had cleared the Sandwich entrance to the canal last night, had passed through the canal and was negotiating a difficult section at the western end when the mishap occurred. She carried an undisclosed number of passengers.

DIES AT HOME OF NIECE HERE

Funeral Services to Be Held Tuesday for Miss Wolford.

Miss Della Wolford, 80, died early Sunday morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. Mabel M. Hunter, 140 North Weldon avenue, after a lingering illness. She was born near Mansfield July 26, 1860, the daughter of Ezra and Feny Wolford, pioneer settlers in Richland county, and she had spent her entire life in this vicinity.

The only survivor is her niece, with whom she made her home. She had been a member of the First Lutheran church.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Tuesday at 3 p. m. in charge of Rev. G. E. Swoyer. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

trickle of traffic through the Dardanelles as it awaited Germany's next move in southeastern Europe.

Turkish quarters asserted that Germany's way was now open for attacks on Greece or Turkey and that such attacks were probably imminent.

They suggested that Germany could choose its own time, however, and might first complete its occupation of Bulgaria and make a last attempt to force Greece to make peace with Italy and to draw Turkey away from Great Britain.

According to well-informed diplomatic sources, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden during his visit to Turkey discussed principally the circumstances under which Turkey might permit Britain to use Turkish soil as a base for aerial as well as land operations, and the amount of aerial and other armament Britain could supply Turkey.

Informants asserted, however, that there was no question of Turkey departing from the defense strategy of staying behind its own lines.

It was disclosed that ships desiring to pass through the Dardanelles and the Bosporus were now required to take on Turkish pilots, for which there is no charge. Previously the taking on of a Turkish pilot had been optional but a service charge had been made.

Eden Opens Parley With Greek Leaders

ATHENS, Greece —(U.P.)— British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden began a series of conferences with high Greek officials today and all newspapers stressed the importance of the visit.

"Our confidence in a final victory for the Allies is complete," the Eleftheron Vima said, "and we wish to convey this conviction through Eden and Dill (Gen. Sir John G. Dill, chief of the British imperial general staff, who accompanied Eden here.)

"It is with this feeling that the Greek people know today that no other alternative is possible than to win or die. The Albanian campaign shows this conclusively."

(Nothing has been published in Athens of the German occupation of Bulgaria, or of reports that German troops have reached the Greek-Bulgarian border.)

Greek Envoys Due To Leave Bulgaria

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia—(U.P.)—Spiridon Pipinellis, Greek minister to Bulgaria, and the Greek legation and consular staffs are expected momentarily to leave Sofia, usually well-informed sources said today, and it was assumed that Greece would break off all diplomatic relations with Bulgaria.

Rumors that Greece had appealed to President Roosevelt for advice and that British airplanes had bombed the rich, vulnerable oil fields of Rumania spread through the Balkans as German troops marched through Bulgaria toward the Greek frontier.

Nazis Deny Serving Ultimatum on Greece

BERLIN—(U.P.)—A Nazi spokesman announced today that "all intended objectives" in the German march into Bulgaria had been reached "according to plan," but responsible German quarters insisted that no "formal" ultimatum had been served on Greece.

However, informed Nazi quarters said significantly that "it is quite clear that Greece's position has been changed by the presence of German troops in Bulgaria."

"It is yet too early," they added, "to say whether or what consequences will be drawn from this change."

Denying reports that Greece had been given two weeks to make peace with Italy or face consequences of German military action, a Nazi spokesman said that no diplomatic moves had been undertaken thus far to induce Greece to end hostilities in Albania.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

100 TAGS SOLD

SHELBY—More than 100 license tags were sold in Shelby on the opening day of the auto tag sale, Saturday, registrar officials disclosed. This was slightly higher than the number sold on the same day last year, officials pointed.

The office will be open daily from 8:30 a. m. to noon and 1 to 5 p. m., and on Saturday nights during March.

TROOP TO HOLD SPECIAL EVENT

Shelby Scouts Observe Sixth Anniversary at Meeting Slated Tonight.

SHELBY—Troop 3 of the Boy Scouts will mark its sixth anniversary at 7 p. m. tonight at First Methodist church.

Chartered in the National Boy Scout movement on Feb. 28, 1935, Troop 3 is now Shelby's largest troop with some 40 registered members. Ronald Shoup, former Scoutmaster of the group, organized the troop with eight boys.

Seven boys have advanced to the Eagle Scout rank within the past year. They are Roger Pfahler, Hal Lewis, Fred Garvin, Dick Claes, Bob Briggs, Kenneth Troxell and Don Cline. Other advancement and merit badge awards have been presented to the troop members.

Staff of the troop includes Scoutmaster Jacque Kaler, assistant Scoutmaster Louis Wright, Wayne Vanasdale, Jacque Armstrong and Avon Phillips; junior assistant Scoutmaster Dick Claes, and committee members Gerald Dennis, chairman; Clayton Mayer, Charles Dye, A. M. Kirkpatrick, M. E. Wright, Ralph Carroll and O. H. Pfahler.

A number of area officials are expected to be present for the anniversary celebration tonight. Group singing will be lead by Eagle Scout Dave Reese of Ashland. Short talks are expected to be made by Floyd Dent of Mansfield, field executive of Johnny Appleseed area, and D. D. Montoya of Ashland, assistant executive.

Administrator Issues Blanket License For Britain.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The administrator of export control today issued a blanket license for the export of American machine tools, certain strategic minerals and aluminum to Great Britain and northern Ireland.

The order, issued by Brig. Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, applied to articles which have been subjected to rigid export restrictions.

Under Maxwell's order, American firms and exporters may ship the specified goods to Britain and Ulster without obtaining individual licenses.

FIRST WITNESS CALLED IN SUIT

Anti-Trust Action Against Glass Firms Reaches Court.

TOLEDO —(U.P.)— F. Goodwin Smith, president of the Hartford-Empire company, was the first witness today as trial began in the federal government's anti-trust suit against 11 glass containers manufacturing companies.

Smith was summoned by Samuel S. Isseks, federal attorney in charge of the prosecution. He is expected to be on the stand for several days.

Proposals for a settlement by establishment of an institute for control of patents in the industry ran into complications during negotiations last month and Judge Frank L. Kloeb then announced that the case would go to trial unless an agreement was reached in the meantime.

speeding and one for failing to observe a stop sign are scheduled to appear in court this week.

Injured early yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding got out of control on a curve on U. S. route 30 east, just west of Mifflin were Myron Latham, 26, the driver, Clyde Cooper, and Junior Irvine, both 20, all of North Lawrence.

Latham and Cooper are in General hospital, Latham with a possible skull fracture and Cooper with head injuries. Latham's condition was reported only "fairly good" and Cooper was reported recovering. Irvine was treated for lacerations and bruises.

Meanwhile funeral services for Theodore H. Boyd, 36, Galion businessman, who was instantly killed when his automobile left U. S route 30 S. near Galion early Saturday will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the home.

Rev. W. N. Robertson, pastor of the First Methodist church of Galion will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, two young daughters, two sisters and three brothers.

Elsewhere in Ohio five perished in a two-car crash near Vandalia. Two died at Urbana and at Xenia. Hamilton recorded three deaths.

Two trucks collided east of Van Wert, killing Ross Berning, 43, of Rome City, Ind., and seriously injuring James Yontheiner, 29, of Lodi, O.

The collision near Vandalia killed Mrs. James Gram, 40, of East St. Louis, Ill; Shepard Tucker, 16, Amos Taylor, 15, Dudley Thomas and William Thomas, all of Dayton.

Hamilton's deaths, boosting the Butler county 1941 toll to nine, were: Ollie Asher, 6, run over by an automobile; Charles Jones, 63, found frozen beside his wrecked auto, and Virginia Taylor, 24, of Dayton, in upset of skidding car.

Crashing through a guard rail, an automobile plunged into a gully 10 miles northwest of Xenia. Charles E. Boyer, jr., 30, and Donald J. Haas, about 26, both of Dayton, were killed.

Pinned in his wrecked machine, 21-year-old Robert Appleton of Cleveland was burned to death near Willoughby. Mrs. Bessie Stearnes, 57, died at Portsmouth after an automobile struck her.

Other fatalities were:

Mechanicsburg — William M. Conley, 47, in head-on collision.

Springfield—Arthur E. Watters, 30, of near New Moorefield, auto hit tree.

North Dover—Mrs. Wilma Maurer Alton, 32, of Strasburg, in auto-coal truck collision.

Alliance—Otto LeRoy Rininger, 38, of Moultrie, train struck his loaded coal truck.

Trains killed:

Mrs. Harrison Baum, 49, crushed as she crawled beneath a freight train at Kenton to get home to her eight children. Her husband, standing nearby, watched the tragedy.

SURPRISE PARTY

BUTLER—Mrs. Clarence Reeder entertained with a surprise birthday party for her husband yesterday evening at her home in Butler. The 32 guests present played games and presented Mr. Reeder with gifts.

GERMAN TROOPS CROSS BULGARIA TO GREEK BORDER

Yugoslavia herself, the largest power in the Balkans, was described authoritatively as ready to join the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo pact after German Minister Viktor Von Heeren conferred with Yugoslavia's regent Prince Paul and "alluded" to Nazi military strength near the Yugoslav border.

Yugoslavia would be the fifth minor power to join the Axis, following the wake of Rumania, Slovakia, Hungary and Bulgaria.

A German spokesman in Berlin asserted that Nazi troops had entered Bulgaria as "guests" of the little Balkan nation—gateway to either Greece or Turkey—and that the British minister in Sofia could remain undisturbed, if he didn't mind seeing German soldiers from his window.

The spokesman denied that German troops constitute an occupying force controlling Bulgarian affairs.

Simultaneously, reports from Bulgarian provinces said the entire country was being overrun by Nazi units moving south toward Greece and southeast toward Turkey.

The German vanguard was said to have reached the Greek frontier at one point only 65 miles from Salonika, key Greek port on the Aegean sea.

Two trainloads of Nazi troops were reported racing toward the Turkish border from Plovdiv, Bulgaria, only 165 miles from the Dardanelles.

German mechanized forces swarmed into four Bulgarian towns just short of the Greek frontier, apparently leaving Greece with the choice of suing for peace with Italy or calling for British aid in the form of land troops.

The German press declared the military move put Germany in a place to prevent any British effort to "disturb the peace" in the Balkans and predicted that Greece, called "unhappy orphan of the storm," would have to pay for her alliance with Britain.

Bulgaria's parliament yesterday approved casting the nation's lot with the Axis. Twenty of the 150 members opposed joining the partnership.

It was reported in Istanbul that Germany last week asked Turkey to offer to mediate the war with Britain and that the British flatly refused to consider mediation. Berlin ridiculed the report.

In London the headquarters of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "Free French" forces claimed their troops in southern Libya had captured the oases of Curfa, taking 1,000 prisoners.

This was interpreted in London to mean the De Gaulists had control of the entire oasis district—a section of southeastern Libya approximately as large as the state of Ohio.

British forces attacking the Eritrean stronghold at Cheren were said to have broken through a mountain pass guarding the town from the north. A supporting column is fighting toward the stronghold—42 miles from the capital at Asmara — through mountains to the west.

On the western front, the British reported new overnight raids on the German-occupied naval base at Brest and on German-used airdromes after Sunday attacks along the German and Dutch coast.

Nazi raiders dropped some bombs in eastern and southern England last night but the British reported slight damage.

Half way around the world, Emperor Hirohito received Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka in a conference which Domei, Japanese news agency, said probably included discussion of Japan's efforts to bring a settlement of the Thailand-French Indo-China frontier dispute.

Japanese reports said the French government at Vichy approved Japan's compromise suggestions but the Indo-China representatives were holding off in the hope of gaining better terms.

appointment of an additional patrolman on the police force.

Locke has sought four additional officers in order to set up a traffic division, but council has opposed the idea of employing that many officers at least until the parking meters are paid for.

Pending legislation, would turn the parking meter collecting job over to the police department and the patrolman's salary would be met from the parking meter fund.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates, however, is openly opposed to the single-officer cruiser plan. He said today he was "interested in the safety" of his men and would right any attempt to institute the system.

"All we would have would be a driver. What chance would a single officer have against a gang of hoodlums," he asked.

stalled late in November, collections have totaled $11,733. Three rental payments totaling nearly $5,000 have been made leaving a surplus of about $6,700 in the parking meter fund.

This money is being held for final payment of the meters should council decide to purchase them at the end of the nine month trial period in August.

The police department's monthly report disclosed today that 121 more drivers were cited for parking meter violations last month than in January, a total of 713 summons was issued as compared to 592 the month previous.

Collections from the tickets showed a corresponding increase, revenue totaling $733 as against $601 in January.

The report also showed an increase in accidents and injuries during the month.

A total of 118 traffic mishaps was reported on city streets in February, compared with 113 in January. While no fatalities were recorded, 17 were injured during the month as against 12 the month previous.

Higher Traffic Toll Forecast

LAST YEAR'S record of highway traffic toll in the United States was bad. Thirty-five thousand persons killed and 1,320,000 injured. This year has started out even worse.

To March 1 last year there was only one traffic death in Richland county. This year the number stands at seven.

In a booklet just issued by the Travelers Insurance company, entitled "Here Today—Gone Tomorrow," an analysis is given of causes of last year's traffic accidents. This shows that 69 per cent of those killed on streets and roads, and 68 per cent of those injured, met misfortune because drivers were doing one of three things: Exceeding the speed limit, driving on the wrong side of the road, or assuming a right of way which they did not have.

It is also revealed that, "As long as records have been kept, exceeding the speed limit has led the list of major causes of traffic accidents."

No cheerful note is sounded in forecasting the 1941 traffic toll as the daily average of deaths is placed at 98 and injuries are calculated at 1,500 a day.

The casual public attitude that has developed toward reckless, incompetent and drunken driving has undoubtedly been a contributing factor in permitting this needless slaughter on the highways. Driving licenses have been issued in Ohio to obviously unfit persons, no minimum age limit has been established and little attention has been given to enforcement of reasonable traffic regulations.

City streets have been converted into speedways, "stop" signs are ignored and traffic lights flouted. Children and irresponsible adults have been allowed to frequent urban and rural drinking places and to drive cars while under the influence of liquor.

The state legislature is considering ways by which to make the drivers' license law more effective. But this will not be enough. Safety education must be further emphasized. There must be sterner law enforcement and possibly even more important, a larger percentage of motorists must eventually learn to comply voluntarily with reasonable rules of the road and to practice individual courtesy—also to avoid driving after drinking.

Assigned To Leading Role

WE ARE living at the end of one era and at the beginning of another," said a foreign speaker at a Rotary Institute of Understanding in Illinois. "Whether you like it or not, for the next 100 years or perhaps the next 1,000 years you of the United States are to play the leading role in the destiny of the world."

Other speakers and writers have been saying something of the sort to Americans in the last few years. They have not found many understanding listeners in their audiences, however. Americans, having outgrown whatever imperialistic dreams they ever had, had believed they could thrive and prosper and ignore the rest of the world—except for travel purposes. Now they find themselves in a position of tremendous power and influence which they believe they never sought, and which most of them are unable to understand and unwilling to accept.

If the nation is big enough in spiritual and intellectual ways to rise to this new honor and responsibility, it may contribute greatly to the future peace and happiness of the whole world. A critical self-study by many thoughtful persons raises a doubt as to American readiness for the unexpected call.

Growing Rubber In Mexico

ONE of the best evidences of the new co-operation between the United States and Mexico is an experi in rubber-growing. The two governments have agreed to join in trying to develop rubber on a large scale in Mexico.

The matter has been discussed before, but is more important now because of world unsettlement and danger of having the East Indian supply shut off.

There is no evident reason why the plan shouldn't work. The rubber tree is native to South America, and the extensive plantations in the East Indies are said to have gone from Brazil. There are large areas in southern Mexico, and also in several Central American countries.

If the plan succeeds, this hemisphere may become independent of Asiatic supplies. And the wealth produced by such means would raise the living-level of millions of people below the Rio Grande.

When Water Is Needed Quickly

MANY fires which should have been quickly extinguished get out of hand due to the inadequacy or failure of the local water supply. The best fire department on earth is next to helpless if water facilities are inadequate.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters has issued a leaflet on "Water Supply for Municipal Fire Fighting," which contains much informative and valuable data. The leaflet observes that the question of adequacy of water supply "is one which did not receive nearly enough attention in the past. Even today full realization of the needs of the fire service is not as evident as it should be."

The leaflet points out that it is of importance for every fire department to know ultimate capacity of its water systems—and that is particularly true of small communities. It is a mistake to use too many streams, which cut down pressure to where none are effective, instead of a small number properly located.

Adequacy of water supply, furthermore, is not simply a question of the total amount of water available. Having enough hydrants to permit fighting the fire without use of excessively long hose lines is equally important, and many towns are faulty in this respect.

Franklin D. Roosevelt may go down in history as the president who could say "a billion dollars" in a way that made it sound like small change.

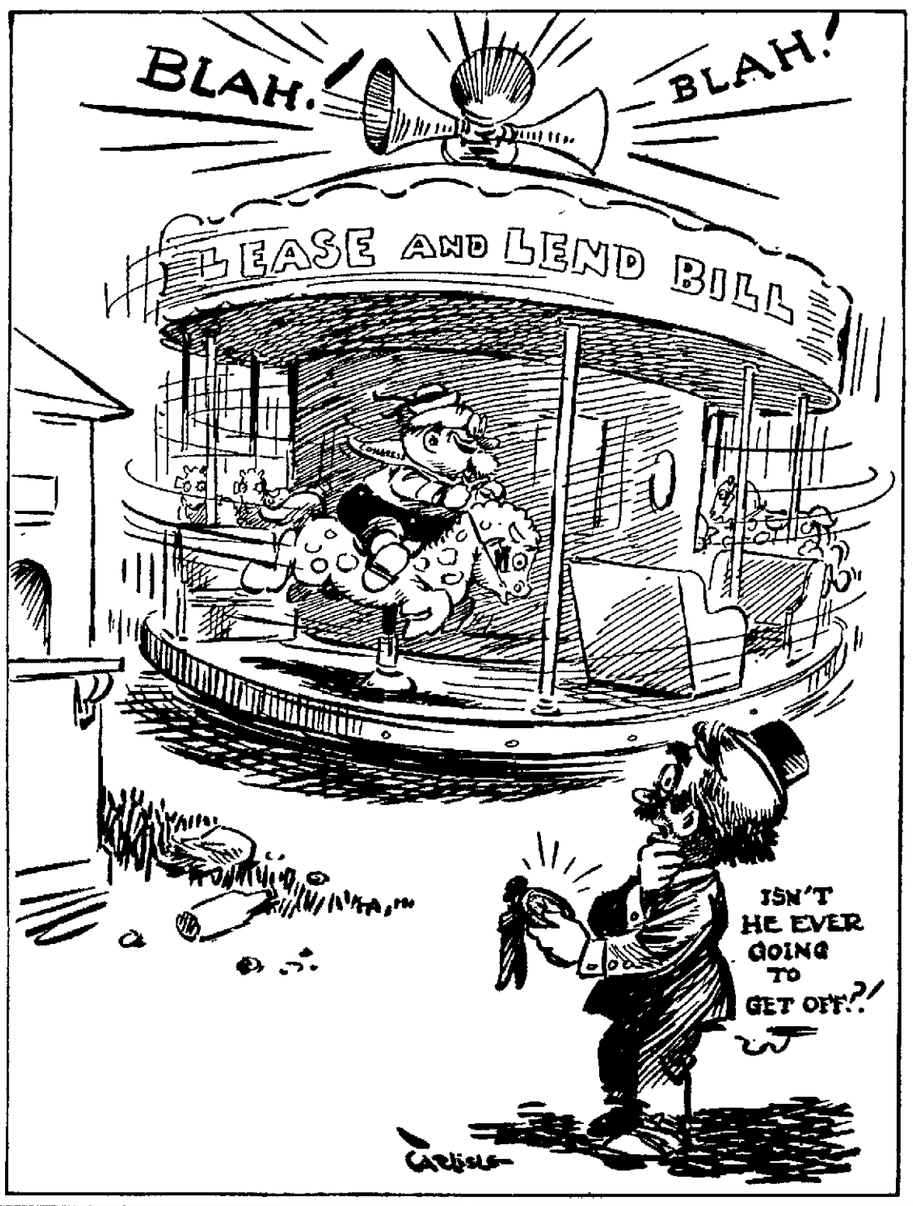
ROUND AND ROUND



Poor Aim of Nazi Bombers Noted

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Two curious and strangely conflicting bits of information were brought to Washington this week by competent observers just returned from Britain. One seems to indicate very poor marksmanship on the part of German bombers. The other indicates the most intelligent discrimination on the part of these same Nazi agents of destruction.

The poor aim illustration applies to Coventry, the city upon which the Germans concentrated some time back, and which appealed to American imaginations in part because that old city was the spot where Lady Godiva made her famous ride.

* * *

A MAN of unquestioned veracity, one of those just back from Britain, said that he went over the city very thoroughly. He said he was horrified at the destruction. But, he added, he noticed that not a single factory had been hit! Now, when one considers that Coventry is regarded as the Detroit of England—that it is the big center for automobile production, and since the war has become one of the big producers of Britain's fighting and bombing planes—that is rather remarkable.

There is no question here of intent. Naturally the Germans would have liked to wreck those factories. They are producing equipment which in a few weeks will be used to resist the German invasion, and which will be used to bomb Germany.

The answer is thought to be just pure luck. The Nazi bombers have to fly very high—more than 20,000 feet — in order to avoid being demolished by anti-aircraft fire. There are those in Britain, however, who say that it happens too often in this bombing of industrial towns to be called chance, or luck. They think, just as they do about the success of the evacuation of 280,000 odd men from Dunkirk, that there is something supernatural about it.

There is perhaps a more prosaic explanation, though this is sheer speculation. But it is possible that the destruction occurred chiefly in residential sections — and the poorestones at that (some of the observers say that most of the buildings destroyed in Coventry, London, and all British cities should have been razed a hundred years ago anyhow)—because in aiming at factories from such heights natural errors, such as misjudging the velocity of winds blowing at lower levels, etc., would result in the bombs missing the bull's-eye, and the slums are the natural victim, being near the bull's eye but not in it.

* * *

THE other remarkable case reported is even more interesting, though with no supernatural twist. But there is a tremendous amount of ship construction going on in England and Scotland, both naval and merchant. Most of these ships will not be completed for months or a year from now. None of these yards building ships not nearly completed have been attacked!

The obvious deduction here is that the Germans are counting on succeeding in their invasion, and using these ships now under construction themselves.

No possibility of poor aim is involved here. The Nazi bombers simply do not drop bombs anywhere in the vicinity of these particular shipyards!

So maybe the British made a mistake in rushing their new giant, the Queen Elizabeth, over to pay high dock charges in New York. If that discrimination theory is correct, the Germans would not have harmed her if she had remained at home.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, March 3, 1921.

Several Mansfield Kiwanians went to Willard to attend charter presentation to new club.

Marion S. Nixon and family moved to New York City where he had taken new position.

Dr. John S. Hattery was called to Chicago by the serious illness of his sister.

Miss Helen Banks and Rollie H. Spicer were married by Rev. C. W. Schwartz.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, March 3, 1936.

Approximately $10,000 was received in first day's collection of first half of 1935 real estate taxes.

Boyd Robinson, Richland county superintendent of schools, was authorized to begin Richland county school employment and attendance survey.

Announcement was made of the marriage of Miss Marjorie Thomas and Wayne Kiner, solemnized Feb 29 at the home of Rev. M. C. Hunt.

I. W. Clark and Reese Mills were in charge of the kitchen clinic sponsored by Westinghouse.

A four-point program calling for reorganization of city engineering departments and removal of city utilities management from political patronage went to city council from the Chamber of Commerce.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On March 3, 1815, war was declared on Algiers. Commodore Stephen Decatur was in command of a squadron of ten warships sent to the Mediterranean. The Bey of Algiers, after a bombardment, surrendered on June 30th.

This Is Ohio

WHEN General Grant became president he was the first of a long list of native Ohioans to fill that office. He had come up the hard way and the past phase of his life was saddened by financial reverses and at last by fatal illness.

He left office with only a few thousand dollars saved from his salary. This was used in a two-year's tour of Europe with his family. On his return he went into business but failure of the brokerage firm of Grant & Ward on May 6, 1884, threw him into bankruptcy.

Cancer of the throat was wearing Grant away. He wrote the personal memoirs in the sick room and in the quiet of the house at Mount McGregor, where he was taken to die. Grant's family received nearly $450,000 from this literary endowment, but he himself died before he could know of its triumph.

Little Chats On Public Notices

Its a Matter of Right.

WHENEVER a public notice, or legal advertisement, as it is sometimes called, appears in print, it means that some kind of right is involved. It may be the right of the heirs to complete the settlement of an estate, or of a bus line to change its route or schedule. It may also give notice of the intention to make a public improvement, or to let contracts for public work or supplies.

All in all, there are several hundred kinds of such notices. But whatever their particular nature, they concern some kind of right. This may be an individual or personal right, or a right belonging to a group or, still more importantly, a public right.

Under American and English law the principle has been handed down for generations that due and ample notice must be given before private or public rights can be disturbed, changed, impaired or destroyed. Under ordinary conditions it is doubtful if there is any exception to this rule.

Where absolutely necessary the individual affected must be given personal notice. But where this is not required or where a general notice is sufficient, some form of public notice is used. This usually appears as "legal advertising" in newspapers of general circulation. All such notices are important, both because of the principle involved and because at some time or other and in one way or another they affect just about every person in the community.

Weather Controls Invasion Date, Belief of Military Strategists

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—U. S. army-navy strategists who have been putting Hitler's strategy under the microscope are convinced that the weather will have more to do with the date of his forthcoming blitzkrieg than anything else.

Weather always has governed Hitler's moves, beginning with Sept. 1, 1939, when he picked the dry fall season to invade Poland. Six weeks later the rains would have made Polish roads a quagmire.

Likewise Hitler went into Norway at a time when the snow and winter weather in the north would be against the British, while milder weather favored the Germans in southern Norway. The invasion of France, Holland, and Belgium also was calculated to coincide with the spring and favorable weather.

So U. S. observers now figure that Hitler will pick a period in March when he is fairly sure to have one week of good weather, plus favorable tides in the English Channel.

Most favorable weather for bombing England is one of fairly low clouds, so that Nazi bombers can fly above them, then dive suddenly below the clouds where they can see their target, and release their bombs.

Real fact is that the Royal Air Force licked Hitler's Luftwaffe last summer and licked it badly. So Hitler is almost certain to move carefully this time, picking the type of cloudy weather most likely to help him. Furthermore, U. S. air experts who have been studying the British preparations are convinced that Hitler will have to send across the Channel almost everything he's got.

Tenant Farmers.

THE PRESIDENT is not losing sight of domestic problems in the welter of foreign affairs—and recently kept his very precise under secretary of state, Sumner Welles, waiting an hour while he threshed out a farm relief problem.

Representatives John Tolan of California and John Sparkman of Alabama had called to protest against a $25,000,000 cut in farm rehabilitation loans, a cut made by the Budget Bureau in the agriculture department appropriation.

The conference was supposed to last 15 minutes, but Roosevelt forgot all about the time, became completely engrossed in the "economic shock" to be felt by tenant farmers and migrants after defense spending has tapered off. Meanwhile Welles cooled his heels in an outer office.

Finally the two congressmen emerged. They were beaming about the president's promise to have the farm relief cut restored. One look at Welles, however, chilled their elation.

And one look was about all the politicos got. Snapping a curt "Good morning," he brushed by them into the president's study.

Plants for Defense.

SO FAR it doesn't look as if the strategic plan to scatter defense industries throughout the American West, where they would be less vulnerable to attack, is on its way to being carried out.

On the contrary, army and navy brass hats, thumbing their noses at the Defense Commission, have bunched the new factories into a few crowded and vulnerable industrial areas. Even protests by Roosevelt have been ignored.

The military argument is that to scatter the new plants away from established production centers would slow up the whole program. But it is significant that the most adamant resistance to locating defense plants in the "hinterland" comes from the giant firms that have been getting the cream of defense contracts.

They want the new plants located near theirs, so that when the national emergency is over the companies can absorb the plants easily and cheaply.

This issue has caused sharp clashes behind the closed doors of the Defense Commission. Chester Davis, agriculture co-ordinator, backed by Leon Henderson, price control, Sidney Hillman, labor, and Miss Harriet Elliott, consumers, have repeatedly stormed against army and navy plant awards—but the brass hats listen politely and then do as they please.

Usually siding with them have been William Knudsen and Edward R. Stettinius, the two big-industry members of the commission. Knudsen sometimes concedes the logic of Davis' arguments, but shrinks from overruling the military.

Not for Elwood.

A TYPICAL example of the navy's attitude was the case of Elwood, Ind., home town of Wendell Willkie, which has been a ghost city since the big tin mill shut down. Badly needing a new industry, and strategically located, the city did its part toward securing an ordnance factory by getting a low price for the vacant mill.

So the navy located its new ordnance plant in Indianapolis, where it promptly ran into the irate opposition of the citizenry.

The army, on its part, submitted nine sites to the Defense Commission, six of them in crowded, exposed eastern centers. When Davis and his group protested, the army replied that contracts already were drawn and it would take weeks to change them. In other words, the commission had no choice except to approve what the brass hats had decided on.

The bulk of army and navy contracts has gone to five areas—the eastern seabord, Ohio valley, southern California, Birmingham, Ala., and Kansas City. Biggest lump during the first six months of rearmament went to New Jersey, with Massachusetts second and Virginia third.

Three western states, Idaho, Montana and North Dakota, didn't get a dime's worth. Nebraska, hard hit by drought and crop failure, got $5,000. Other distressed areas have likewise been ignored.

Florida Ship Canal.

THE Florida ship canal is in the news again, and its backers declare they have 52 votes, or more than enough to pass it. But they are worried over a legislative move to combine this project with the St. Lawrence waterway—with the probable result that both would be sunk together.

Roosevelt has told them he favors a bill to authorize construction of the canal, provided no appropriation is asked for. He wants no more drains on the treasury at the present time.

This gives Floridians a toe-hold, and they are not asking any more. But they don't want the issue tangled up with the St. Lawrence waterway fight.

A number of senators, otherwise favorable to the Florida canal would vote against it if it meant swallowing the St. Lawrence project too. These include Senator Connally and Sheppard of Texas, Overton and Ellender of Louisiana, George and Russell of Georgia, and Radcliffe of Maryland.

Note—$5,925,000 already has been spent on preliminary work on the Florida canal, and Senator Sheppard of Texas has introduced a new bill to authorize its completion.

Browder's Term.

"I see the supreme court affirmed the four-year sentence of Earl Browder, the Communist leader, for violation of the passport laws."

"Yeah, with time off for good behavior, he'll get out just in time to run again for president on the 1944 Communist ticket."

Fear of Fanatics.

"Say, is the senate getting jittery! They've closed and bolted those gigantic wooden doors that open onto the senate floor. An old-timer tells me that, according to the memory of his oldest pals, the precaution hasn't been taken since the Civil war. And that ain't all. They're using the metropolitan police again as special guards in the senate gallery. And it didn't take any checking with old-timers to find out that it's the first time that has been done since the World war."

"Pal, the senate isn't the only one that has the personal defense jitters. I hear from hired hands in the postoffice department that there are not only a heap of congressmen, but a double heap of other government officials these days who you can't get to accept any gifts of candy or other eats for fear of poisoning. And they start saying 'Take it away' the minute you walk in the door with any kind of a box that possibly could contain a bomb, or something."

"Well, after all, you know there was a chunk blown out of the Capitol during the World war. One of the topnotch investigators around here tells me that it isn't saboteurs and spies that worry folks who know: it's the nuts . . . the fanatics. The history of assassins and would-be such, this fellow says, is just a list of people who should have been committed to insane asylums but somehow missed the bughouse draft."

Free Phoning.

"Gee, here I was sitting talking to my girl on the 'phone and the boss comes in and catches me and he says, 'Look here, young man, don't you know that, by latest count there are nearly 52,000 government telephones in Washington, and what if just a third—just a third, mind you, of the federal employes took it into their heads to make private calls all at once? Why, you'd put the government out of business for hours!' And I said, I guess pretty weakly, 'Gee Boss, I never thought of that. Do you mean there's really 52,000?' And he says, 'Well, young man, if you have to be exact, call it 51,800—but I think you get what I mean'."

Army Athletics.

"D'you know what they're saying over at the army-navy morale division? They're saying that there's going to be 16,500 baseball teams this spring. Counting 20 to the team, that means about 330,000 guys or half the army playing baseball. Could that be right?"

"I don't know, friend, but remember this, a whole lot of unathletic gents were weeded out before it ever came time to issue the duffle bags and popguns. According to what I hear, the army is spending around $618,000 on sports equipment. If that doesn't make the sporting goods business a defense industry, I haven't been reading the books right.

"The guy that told me this, also told me that in addition to baseball and football equipment, there were soccer balls, tennis balls, handballs, medicine balls and soft balls, boxing gloves and bags, table tennis sets and badminton sets. Sounds like to me the slogan should be: 'Join the Army and Be an Athlete.' What do you suppose is going to happen when all these lugs graduate or whatever it is you do when Selective Service gets through with you? Looks to me like Mike Jacobs, organized baseball, football and the Amateur Athletic union ought to be subsidizing this defense program instead of us taxpayers."

A Farmer's Diary

Bad Girl, Bad Boy

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

SHE'S a bad girl! As bad, that is, as a girl can be at seventeen—months!

She is rolypoly, and on the nape of her neck a curl turns up provocatively. There is a kewpie curl on top of her head and another in front of each small pink ear. She has round black eyes, a litle turned up nose, and the pinkest, chubbiest cheeks imaginable.

Her mother was in the kitchen getting a company dinner, when she heard the high pitched baby voice say, "Hi! Hi!" in the living room. A hurried look revealed the tiny girl seated in the middle of the table top with the desk telephone receiver pressed to her ear.

An ejaculation in a clipped bass voice came indistinctly over the wires, with quick presence of mind, the mother tiptoed in, grabbed the telephone with one hand and her daughter with the other and put the receiver back on the hook before she spoke. Little daughter ran into the kitchen to nurse spanked hands.

Two minutes later the mother followed. There sat the bad girl on the kitchen table, splattering delightedly in a big bowlful of warm gelatine dessert with a cooking spoon . . .

Although he is my son, he's as bad as a boy can be—at seventeen—months. He combines the innocence of a lamb with the irresponsibility of a partially house broken puppy. Luckily for him, his mother has more patience with pups than I do.

He is tall for his age, with big ears like mine, and big nose and feet like his maternal grandpa. Curls aren't part of his endowment, but he's a happy sort, with bright eyes, red cheeks and a mouthful of big white teeth. He has learned a trick or two about getting along. He can dunk his own doughnut, pound on a typewriter, climb a cupboard, and if need be, fight for what he wants.

Our family went to dine at the home of the aforementioned little girl. Boy and girl sat side by side on the sofa to get acquainted. He wore navy blue sailor longies, and she a short pink gingham pinafore, with panties to match. He liked her, and wanted to hug her, but she kept him at arm's length. They looked like a real life illustration for a valentine.

She climbed upon his mother's lap and made him jealous. He forthwith climbed up at the other side and tried with both feet to push her off on the floor.

Late in the evening they quarreled openly. He took her toy and she opened her mouth and howled, showing every tiny tooth as big tears rolled and splashed from her small round chin. Scolded by his mother, his lower lip quivered, he hung his head and ran behind the armchair to hide.
